WAR HEROES ARE ACCORDED BIG WELCOME

First Unit of 62nd Artillery
Arrives from France and Receives a Most Joyous and Enthusiastic Reception

Eastbay Men in Ranks of 424 Who Returned Are Overwhelmed by Tokens of Love Extended by Folk

"Ah-h-h! They're coming! They're coming!" This was the cry of joy and the cry of relief that went up from 5000 throats as the train bearing the San Francisco and Alameda county contingents of the Sixty-second Regiment of Coast Artillery steamed around the curve into the Third and Townsend streets station, San Francisco, at 10 o'clock this morning.

As the train came to a standstill, the crowd, kept back from the train until this time by a cordon of police, went wild with gladness and, madly cheering and waving flags, they rushed the police and a moment later ruddy-faced fighting men in khaki were being kissed and hugged by the home folk who surrounded the train.

While other thousands waited at the ferry building and Market street from which to see the men from France, the officers in charge of the train and a battalion of police had a big job on their hands clearing the space in front of the train so that the men could detain and form for the parade.

DISCIPLINE AND SYSTEM GO BY BOARD

For an hour the depot was the clearing house for the pent-up love and affection of mothers and wives and sweethearts. Sharp, hoarse-voiced commands from police and military availed little. This was one time when discipline and system must go by the board. Love and joy was king, and held its sway until came a sense of decency and a consideration for the rights and feelings of others forced the home folk to stand back away from the train so that the parade could begin.

In the contingent was a total of 124 men and officers, fifty of these being Alameda county and Northern California men, the others being from San Francisco.

Captain Milo Kent of San Francisco was in command of the train. With him were Lieutenants L. H. Chamberlain, 2509 Keith avenue, Berkeley; P. D. Barnes, 2121 Emerson street, Berkeley, and Lieutenant Carl Schmitz of San Francisco.

IT'S GOOD TO GET HOME, SAYS KENT

"Oh, but it's good to get home," said Captain Kent as he stopped for a moment between attending to a hundred and one duties that demanded immediate attention. "After all, there is only one place on earth where a man who knows wants to be, and that's in California. Everything a sane man wants is here—climate, wealth and the finest people on earth. Men alive, just look at those wonderful women." Just at this point a pretty girl grappled with the captain, and despite blushes and protestations, he was kissed before he hardly realized what was happening.

Lieutenant Chamberlain, who was an enlisted man of the old California National Guard Artillery and who won his commission just before he was transferred to the Sixty-second in France, had this to say as his eyes roamed over the crowd looking for his kinfolk, who were there, but who, in the crowd, could not find him, nor he them.

CAN HARDLY BELIEVE THEY'RE HOME AGAIN

"It's great. I can hardly believe that I am really home again and that all the things I have seen in the breeze of the bay blowing in my face as I cross the Alameda county side."

Lieutenant-Surgeon Barnes said he would be able to talk after his throat disappeared. In between attention to various duties he tried to get a glimpse of some member of his family, but the crowd always interfered just when he thought he saw them.

Lieutenant Spaulding was anxious to get all the greetings and parades over so that he could hurry to his home in Berkeley.

"Everything's great," said the lieutenant. "The men are in fine spirits and ever since they started for home they've been the happiest bunch of healthy human beings you ever saw. They were glad to go home and are just as glad to get home again."

Father McQuade of San Francisco, chaplain of the regiment, who preceded it home by some months, was in the train, having gone to Los Angeles to meet the men of his old regiment.

William Benedict, assistant secretary to Mayor Ralph of San Francisco, represented San Francisco officials in the train, having gone to Los Angeles to meet the men of his old regiment. He was accompanied by the women of the Red Cross and the One Minute Girls of the War Camp Community Service. As soon as the big crowd would permit the men were taken to the ferry building from which point the parade began.

After the parade and review the men were marched to the demobilization camp in the Presidio, where they will be mustered out of the service within the next few days. During the coming week the Knights of Columbus and the War Camp Community Service will provide additional entertainment and welcoming receptions for the men.

Scenes snapped by TRIBUNE photographer when Alameda County boys arrived from France as members of Sixty-second Coast Artillery. ## BOY HELD FOR BAD CHECKS, BUT GIRL TO GO FREE

"There is no doubt that justice is blind. Here we send on his road to the penitentiary a colored boy who tried to cash a check but never got a cent out of it, and now we propose, at the same session of court, to release a girl who has passed many checks and gotten money for it, just because she is young and pretty. I do not feel that justice is here at all."

So said Police Judge Samuels today when, after holding a charge of passing a check, he was asked to attempt to pass a fictitious check and remanding him to jail in lieu of $2000 bail, released Priscilla Dean, 15 years old, in custody of the probation officer.

Miss Dean is accused of posing in Oakland and San Francisco as the wife of an army officer and cashing spurious checks. She said her desire for fine clothes led her to cash checks without funds here and in San Francisco.

Her attorneys informed Judge Samuels that all the checks she had passed had been made good, and that the San Francisco court had continued her case, allowing her to go free on "recognizance," practically dropping the charge to allow her to return to her guardian in New York.

"I have nothing to say about what is done in San Francisco, but I have a lot to say about what is done here, and I will not do business that way," said the judge. "I want to help this girl, but I want to help this boy, too. I will release the girl only when satisfied that the people she is going to in New York can make a better woman out of her, and inasmuch as San Francisco has not even placed her

Boilermakers Open Inquiry Harmony Move Recommended

An investigation of the office of E. B. Wolff, financial secretary of the Oakland Boilermakers' Union, was started today by order of Louis Weyand, president of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders, according to W. V. Angell, organizer for the international here, who is in charge of the investigation. Angell has received instructions from Weyand to employ such experts as may be necessary for an auditing of the books and accounts.

The investigation was ordered in reply to a telegram from Wolff requesting that the international officers order an immediate probe of the affairs of his office. This is Wolff's reply, his supporters state, to the allegation made at a recent meeting of the so-called conservative element of the union that he had withdrawn $11,000 from the treasury of the union and placed the amount in a safety deposit box, to which he alone has a key.

MOVE FOR HARMONY

HERE IS RECOMMENDED
The Weyand telegram also suggests that the local union hold another election of officers, in the interest of harmony and with a view to the reaffiliation of the conservatives with the organization. Angell is instructed to advise the holding of such an election and will, it is stated, bring the matter up for discussion at the regular weekly meeting of the union tomorrow night.

This phase of the Weyand telegram has a direct bearing, state factions, on the telegram forwarded to him Monday by the conservatives requesting the expulsion from the organization of Wolff and other officers and leaders, and the declaring of their offices vacant. This telegram was sent in opposition to the advice of M. J. McGuire, strike leader, under probation, I will place her under the charge of the local probation officer for a week, pending my investigations.

Miss Dean was turned over to the probation officer while Judge Samuels and her attorneys investigated the circumstances of her guardians in New York.

Troops Not Needed to Prevent Parade

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 11.—There were no indications today that an attempt would be made to hold the parade of unemployed for which the city authorities yesterday refused to issue a permit. There was nothing in the situation, Mayor Buck said, that would justify a call for troops.

Federal employment agencies estimate the unemployed in Buffalo at not more than 10,000 to 15,000 men. Many of these, it was said, drew high wages all winter and are in no pressing need of funds.

RAILROADS ARE REFUSED REFUND OF STATE TAXES

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—California is in no position to grant the refund of increased taxes asked by Walker D. Hines, director-general of railroads, according to Marshall DeMotte, chairman of the State Board of Control. A telegram addressed by DeMotte to Hines this morning is a virtual refusal.

DeMotte's correspondence, along with that of Hines, was made public through the office of Governor William D. Stephens. The state's position is expressed in the statement that the need for money is so great at present that were the subject to be brought before the legislature it would mean that that body would increase the present tax rate, irrespective of the federal plea for a refund.

The present tax on railroads is 5 1/2 per cent. When the government ordered a flat increase of 25 per cent during the war, California was naturally increased. Then the railroad administrator had Attorney Robert Devlin present three propositions looking to a reduction of the rate. All were turned down by the state administration.

The latest move has been to get a refund of those monies over and above what the state would naturally receive under the old freight rates.

DeMotte's telegram to Hines is as follows:
"California's peculiar tax system makes it the only state called upon in this way and if we refund to the national government our people will have to replace such amount in treasury, although they have already contributed their share of railroad increased income in freight and passenger charges paid, while the benefit to government will be spread over other states of nation that are making no refund."

"Intrastate roads and other corporations of state were affected by federal rate advances, but state

MONDELL MADE FLOOR LEADER; MANN DECLINES

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Representative Frank W. Mondell of Newcastle, Wyoming, today was elected Republican floor leader in the next Congress.

The vote for Mondell was 160 to 23, the latter number voting "present." Fifty-three were absent from the meeting of the Republican committee on committees.

Previous to the nomination of Mondell, Representative Mann, Illinois, present Republican floor leader, was chosen to lead again the Republican forces in the house, but declined the nomination. The vote for Mann was 154, twelve voting against him and two voting for Representative Longworth of Ohio.

Longworth cannot refund to them and would be forced to increase their taxes to restore amount so refunded. "Just now need of state for money is as great as nation's and the logic of conditions here indicates that if matter is opened legislature would probably raise rate."

"Impression prevails that Southern Pacific, Atchafalpa and Salt Lake have made money in California 1918."

(Signed)
"MARSHALL DEMOTTE,
"Chairman, State Board of Control."
The Hines telegram, which was dispatched under date of March 8 from Washington and is in the hands of Governor Stephens at this time, is a full review of the government's case. It was pointed out clearly at the time of the acquittal for a reduced tax rate that California would be left in an unhappy fix were a lesser volume of business to be handled by the railroads next year or were the lines, as seems to be feared in many quarters, to revert to private owners.

Japan Objects to Korean Discussion at Peace Session

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Korea's appeal to the peace table for independence from Japan was likened in principle to Great Britain's Irish problem by Japanese diplomats here today.

"Korea is an integral part of Japan," the embassy commented in answer to queries concerning the reported declaration of independence of the Korean national independence union.

"There is no situation in this regard for discussion at the peace conference. Korea was joined to Japan with world approval. Naturally there is a small element there, as everywhere, desiring a change."

GERMAN ARMY CUT TO 100,000 BY PEACE TREATY

BERLIN, March 11 (By the Associated Press).—It has been known that Pope Benedict has addressed an appeal to the powers emphasizing the urgency of the speedy conclusion of peace with Germany.

It is understood that the Pontiff states that the Vatican possesses reliable information that the situation in Germany, socially and economically, is very grave, and that he fears the spread of Bolshevism with such rapidity that it might result in the establishment of a Bolshevik state.

Other provisions in the military terms limit the army's munitions. Germany may possess to a quantity sufficient for 100,000 men, and the remainder must be delivered over or destroyed. The German forts along the Rhine also must be destroyed. The imperial general staff is abolished as the result of reducing the force.

Discussion of the subject was resumed by the supreme council, the basis for the decision being in Marshal Foch's report on French terms proposed by the German government. These terms provide for a sweeping reduction of the German military establishment down to 100,000 men, with 4000 officers, the army to be recruited by the voluntary system for the period of twelve years. The effect of this is to limit Germany's military strength to less than the number of men Switzerland has in her army.

EBERT ARMY RAINS SHELLS OVER LEIPZIG

Artillery Attack Begun on 3
Sides to Dislodge Reds in City; Fighting Continues in Northeast Portion of Berlin

One Thousand Slain in Capital
Revolt and 200 Wounded;
Strike Spreading to Silesian
Coal Fields and Poland

LONDON, March 11.—German government troops have captured Leipzig, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch, received from Zurich this afternoon.

LONDON, March 11.—Seventy government soldiers have been executed by the Ebert government, according to a Central News despatch.

ZURICH, March 11.—Leipzig, which has been the storm center of fighting for several days, is under attack on three sides by government troops. The attackers are using artillery and are employing airplanes to direct the attack, said advices received here today.

The battle opened on Sunday. Minister of War Gustav Noske has been ordered to capture the city from the Communists (Reds) and armed workers.

LONDON, March 11.—Government troops in Berlin made further progress Saturday and Sunday in demolishing Spartacan strongholds in the northern and eastern sections of the city, according to a German wireless message. The troops used artillery and mine throwers, being thus able to force the insurgents back without exposing themselves.

The Spartacans are attempting to transfer their field of resistance to the eastern suburbs. The despatch says that their terroristic methods have caused a revulsion of feeling in favor of the government everywhere.

More than 1000 are slain in Berlin during the fighting.

AMSTERDAM, March 11.—More than 1000 persons have been killed and 600 injured in the fighting the past week in Berlin, according to advices reaching here. The scenes are reported as more terrible than those of the French revolution. The Reds dragged naked prisoners through the streets and then killed them with hand grenades. Officers were killed by having their throats cut. The battles raging in the suburbs of Berlin are said to be of the fiercest character. The damage in the vicinity of Alexander Platz is estimated at forty million marks (approximately $8,000,000).

Encounters of troops are reported from the Silesian coal region, where the miners' strike is spreading. The movement is partly a Polish separatist one. The collision between strikers and home guards is reported from this area.

BERLIN, March 9, via London, March 11.—Fighting continued in Berlin today between Spartacans and government troops. A battle was raging in the eastern part of the city this morning. An alarm was given by the government authorities that a Spartacan, dropped a bomb on a crowd of unarmed civilians, killing four and wounding twenty-five.

Spartacans supported by sailors stormed the city prison and released 200 prisoners, some of them dangerous criminals. The streets leading to Moabit prison were barricaded by the Spartacans with barbed wire entanglements.

Wilhelmstrasse, where the government buildings are located, was closed. The entrances were covered with huge posters bearing the inscription:

"Who goes here will be shot." The Spartacans have been driven back from the central part of the city to the eastern part. Some retreated by the water route, seizing barges and tugboats in the Spree river.

As an example of the recklessness of the Spartacans, they built barricades in the street of flour and sugar. These were destroyed by the government troops with grenades and mines.

BASLE, March 10.—Communists attacked the parliament house at Budapest on Saturday night, according to a despatch to the Basle Nachrichten. Several banks and government buildings were under attack, but government troops defeated the communists and drove them out of the city.

Alameda Boys Given Real Welcome Fitting Reward for Eating Canned Bill

Tramping through England with a 70-pound pack on one's back and the thermometer 110 in the shade isn't exactly a thing to look forward to or to remember with pleasure, think J. P. Hollar, 1409 Fourteenth street, Oakland, one of the Alameda county boys in the 52d Coast Artillery.
"But there was the beautiful countryside, a picture for an artist, to compensate for it," he says. "It was the most charming country I ever saw."
The boys marched from Camp Wooster to Southampton a distance of 14 miles, in three hours under the conditions described last August. It was just a 30-mile trek across the English Channel from Dover, Ash.
RECALL 35-MILE HIKE.
"We saw wonderful views on the road with men and women waving from the shore of England, who had gone to the front."
Lawrence V. Jordan, 327 Grove street, Oakland, also had recollections of that memorable hike. "The roads were so narrow that it was impossible for us to go in column of squads. It was right up two- and double rank for us," he said.
Linwood Kumpasa, 517 Santa Clara street, Alameda, was one of the lucky boys at the depot. His father and mother and several brothers and sisters were on hand to greet them and a happy greeting was given them and they were nearly smothered in kisses and embraces.
"I guess maybe this ain't worth going to war for," he grinned. "Why, say, it's worth it any time of day. A year eating canned Willey, standing reveille at an unearthly hour, and putting up with the rest of rough stuff in army life to get a greeting like this!"
There were many Eastbay fathers and mothers and other kin-folks on hand to greet the returning boys, and they gave their particular returning boys just as royal a welcome as the one Kumpasa got.
STREET CARS LOOK GOOD.
Guy L. Winchell, 2333 Broadway, former Key Route conductor, is through with the combination cattle-car passenger-car confinement in which troops were transported in France. "It's the Key Route for me," he said, "and oh, boy, those red cars will surely look good to me!"
Archie and Lee Rubart, the latter a sergeant, are two of three brothers in the service. They all live at 2915 Berkeley way, Berkeley. Both were members of the 62d, and their other brother, Roscoe Rubart, just discharged from the 51st Engineers, was on hand to greet them.
C. T. Englund, formerly of 1154 East Twelfth street, Oakland, described an air raid at Le Havre on August 1.
"It was the closest we got to real fighting," he said. "Several planes flew over us and dropped bombs into camp. The men all took to cover while anti-aircraft guns kept firing at the planes. The planes soon gave it up, a tad job and flew away without being damaged. The damage in the camp was slight and none was hurt. But it was some excitement while it lasted."
The airplane raid on Le Havre was very unusual as it is situated on the coast, far behind the battle line.
BATTLE OF BLAISE.
"Did we see any fighting?" asked Corporal H. Kuhn of 1165 Pacific avenue, Alameda. "Well, we fought at the battle of Vin Blanc and the Siege of Cognac, if that means anything."
The reference was to the favorite beverage in France which the American soldiers were allowed to enjoy in moderation. Although the men were inclined to make light of their stay in France, however, the regiment, in such, never saw the battle line, there was general regret that they could not have gone into the fighting. They had put in six months of the toughest kind of training at Montargis in the southern part of France, and were expecting the call to the front when the armistice was signed.
A number of Oakland boys told of the trip the regiment made in the Pochebouda from Bordeaux to New York and it wasn't a trip to be envied according to their version. The Pochebouda was formerly the Princess Irene, a German ship. The men were crowded 'tween decks like sardines. The sea was rough and it took fourteen days to make the passage.
"In all the time we were on the ship we didn't have a warm meal," said the men, who weren't grumbling, but just telling facts in an off-hand manner. "We had to live up on deck with our mess kits for our meals. The sky the

NORTHCUTT SAYS GOWLING GUILTY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—"That man is the father of my wife's baby!" was the startling statement made by Lieutenant-Commander Carlton A. Northcutt as he decried the testimony of E. E. Gowling, secretary and treasurer of the Feather River Mining Company, who was being arraigned before United States Commissioner Francis [?] today, charged with violation of the Mann act, the woman in the case being Mrs. Myrna Northcutt, wife of the lieutenant.
Gowling was arrested February 27 on a complaint charging him with transporting Mrs. Northcutt from Reno, Nev., by automobile to San Francisco, Cal. Corroborative testimony that Gowling and Mrs. Northcutt were intimate was had in the testimony of Herbert Clark, private detective, who said, "I saw Mrs. Northcutt in bed at Gowling's home in Sloat, with her baby, and Gowling entered the room, partly dressed and extinguished the light. Letters written by Mrs. Northcutt to Gowling were read by Deputy United States Attorney P. H. Johnston, the handwriting being identified by Northcutt. A portion of one of these follows:
"I will come to Reno and we will drive home from there. Our baby—sweetheart—is awake and I must sweeten him. Goodbye, honey boy, I love you dearly."
At this point a heated argument ensued between Johnston and Attorney F. A. Duryea, representing Gowling, when the defendant's counsel demanded the return of these letters, which were included among other documents seized at his home under a search warrant issued to E. M. Blamford of the department of justice. Attorney Duryea charged that they had been improperly obtained.
Before Gowling was held to the grand jury at Sacramento, who will give his case consideration next Friday, Northcutt testified that shortly after leaving for France Gowling, who had been a friend of the family at their home in Duluth, Minn., had persuaded her to abandon her husband. He said his wife was the daughter of Martin Patterson, millionaire sugar grower in Louisiana, and that Gowling did not love his wife, but had been actuated in breaking up the Northcutt home for ulterior motives, the principal of these being his wife's share of the Patterson estate, which was estimated at $2,000,000.
Mrs. Northcutt is under arrest in Los Angeles with Jack Knight and Verna McLeod, whom the government charged with being accessories to the white slave violation of the federal act by Gowling.

Fire Chief to Be Blamed For Conlon's Death

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Charges will be filed before the fire commissioners here at their next meeting accusing the chief of the fire department, Thomas R. Murphy, with having been responsible for the death of first assistant chief, John J. Conlon.
Conlon died March 3 as a result of being asphyxiated with smoke while fighting a fire in the basement of the store of E. E. Wright, 217 Post street, March 1. The statement that the charges would be filed was made by Captain William Gill, secretary of the David Scannell Club, the firemen's association, following a resolution unanimously adopted last night in which Gill has embodied what is alleged to be the dying statement Chief Conlon made to him before his death.
"Conlon told me that he had been overcome," Captain Gill said, "through the countermanding of his orders by Chief Murphy to stop holes in the floor of the store giving a draft and ventilation to the basement. We will also ask an investigation of the Owl lodging house fire, in which two firemen lost their lives."

Probe of Riot Over Gambling Continued

LONDON, March 11.—Investigation of Sunday's riot in the Strand in which American soldiers and sailors and Canadian and Australian soldiers clashed with the London civil police, was continued today.
American army officials admit the police were legally justified in stopping gambling, but suggested the trouble would have been avoided if the T. M. C. A. authorities had asked American military policemen instead of the London police to stop the crap game over which the disturbance originated.
"Unless and until the men involved are condemned by a court of inquiry the public should withhold condemnation," the News stated today.

Japanese Promises He Will Not Gamble

Enji Morishiro, a Japanese farm boy, promised Judge James G. Quinn today that he would never gamble again, and that he would go to work on a farm and work hard and keep straight. The promise was made in consideration of the boy's promise on probation to plead guilty to issuing a check for $14 to cover gambling losses in a game at Pleasanton. A countryman came to his rescue and made good the loss and the boy's promise to keep straight.

Home Laws Block Aerial Conference

PARIS, March 11 (by the Associated Press).—Like the international wireless conference, which assembled here several weeks ago, a similar gathering, which was intended to deal with problems relating to aerial navigation has been compelled to postpone its work indefinitely after having merely perfected its organization. Mere suggestions of the extensive plans which were to be brought forward developed the fact that most nations might be obliged to make wholly unexpected changes in their fundamental laws if they participated in decisions.
This necessitated the reference of many problems to home governments and it is understood that it will require consideration of many months before the delegates will be able to proceed.

Veracity Is Urged in Advertising

That veracity is vitally essential to successful advertising, was the assertion of B. C. Tognazzi, president of the Central California Creameries, in a talk before the advertising club of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in the Hotel Oakland today.
There is nothing to be gained by attempting to mislead the public through misrepresentation in advertisements, according to Tognazzi. He advocated a plan whereby the advertiser can back up every statement he makes in appealing to the public through advertising mediums.
Various forms of advertising were discussed by the speaker and he told of his personal observations during the many years that he has used a great deal of advertising space in numerous mediums.

G. O. P. SPLIT OVER LEAGUE IS FEARED

By ROBERT J. BENDER,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Republican supporters of the league of nations, headed by former President
William H. Taft, are warning G. O.
P. opponents of the league against a too rigid stand, lest they endanger the party.

It is now generally admitted that when the peace treaty comes back from France, the league of nations will be part and parcel of it. The whole work of drafting the treaty in Paris has been built on the promise of a league of nations and practically every article in some way is applicable under league rules.

Taft's move and the difference of opinion existing in both parties have created the belief here that there is a possibility in 1920, if the peace treaty is ratified, that the electoral splitting of the new alignment—those for and those opposed to ratification of the league. The fight would then be with the issue of moderate internationalism as opposed to strong statesmanship.

In this connection there are now strong organizations backing both the elements favoring and opposing the league, each determined to fight

LIKE NEW PERSON, SAYS MRS. LEEDER

Tanlac Restores Her to Health After All Other Medicines Have Failed.

"Besides getting relief from my suffering I have actually gained eleven pounds in weight and you may know that what I think of Tanlac," said Mrs. E. Leeder, residing at 806 East street, San Francisco, in conversation with a special Tanlac representative recently. Mrs. Leeder also has a wide circle of friends in Denver, Colorado, where she resided for a number of years.

"Before I took Tanlac," she continued, "I was suffering, and had been for several years, from a very bad indigestion and had eaten into a very bad condition. My stomach trouble was first started from nervousness and soon got to such a bad condition that I could hardly digest anything. I finally got to having spells of nausea, and I was unable to eat anything. I couldn't retain anything I would eat. When these spells came on me I would just have to go to bed and would have terrible headaches and high fevers. I have lived for weeks at a time on nothing except just bread and milk. I tried all kinds of medicines and diet while living in Denver, but could never get any results from anything. I was also badly constipated and had to take something constantly for this trouble. I had also been treated at a time with the 'flu,' recently, and all together my condition has been most distressing."

"When I began taking Tanlac I only weighed one hundred and fifteen pounds and was truly in an awful fix. I had also been treated at a time with the 'flu,' recently, and all together my condition has been most distressing."

Easy to Make This Pine Cough Remedy

Thousands of families swear by its effectiveness in curing coughs, croup, and saves about $2.

You know that pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs, croup, and colds. It contains several peculiar elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

Be aware that many cheap remedies that money can buy, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, or honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money.

"You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse, and tight, or it may be constantly loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will cure it usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment."

Pinex is a perfectly harmless compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute relief and complete recovery. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Cocoanut Oil Fine for Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain unsifted cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless) is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get unsifted cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

Plans for examinations for every grade of officer in the police department, to create an eligible list for every rank, are under way for the result of the "defect" of acting police officers disapproved by the Civil Service Board in the present quarrel over temporary assignments in the department.

The Civil Service Board holds that twelve men assigned to temporary acting rank higher than their own by Chief Henry Nedderman cannot hold such ratings and collect pay, as they are not filling "authorized" leaves. Nedderman and the men hold that the new police and fire amendment authorizes such temporary assignments, and insist that they will ignore the Civil Service Board and will bring mandamus proceedings with funds of the Police Protective Association if their pay warrants are held up. They claim that the chief is authorized under the amendment to assign men to higher ranks to place officers in absence caused by leaves for "sickness, injury or otherwise."

The "joker" found in the amendment by the Civil Service Board, and that will not be the least of the situation, is that the amendment provides that these men must be appointed "from lower ranks and from civil service eligible lists" when such occur. The present situation is brought about, the board members say, because there are no civil service eligible lists for many of the positions at present. When such lists are created by examinations, the board claims, the men who have been appointed by Nedderman will be forced to choose the highest name on the eligible list for any assignment to fill any vacancy.

"This will get around any possible change for the police chief to make a patronage proposition out of his assignments," said George Kaufman of the board.

The examinations will be prepared at once and called within the next few months, according to the board members. After the lists are created they will be sent to the police department for use in making future assignments.

In the meantime the officers temporarily assigned by Nedderman will, they say, continue to act in the capacities assigned to them. The details of the new plan will be taken up tonight by the civil service board.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH, IF CONSTIPATED

Look at Tongue; Then Give Fruit Laxative for Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Children and They Love It.

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat, or has a full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a happy, healthy child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is of prime importance. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children and all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

CHAPTER 17.

Death in Prison Camp.

Colonel Brown, the senior American officer, was a West Pointer and all times maintained strict discipline. It was fortunate that we had him with us. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and was from Bryan, Texas. He was a medium-sized man, about 40 years of age. He kept strict control of all Americans at Villigen. He was an artillery officer and was captured October 15. The day of his capture he had been ordered to move his artillery ahead for advance the next day. At night he and his orderly went out to inspect the front and got into German territory. The machine gunners opened fire on him. His orderly escaped. Colonel Brown's horse was shot under him and the colonel hid in a shellhole, but was found and captured by the Germans. He was a quiet, brave officer and would not be bluff.

Lieutenant Emory was another of the officers who was very popular. He was captured with the British where he was sent for medical service. The first aid trenches being shelled by the Germans and the doctors were being shot and captured ill volunteers were called for. He volunteered and was captured the very next day, though he hid in water up to his neck in hope of escaping. He was in charge of the Y. M. C. A. library at the prison. On his return he found a commission awaiting him as captain.

For a week or ten days while we waited at Villigen prison we could see the retreating German troops falling back along the two roads. One led right by the prison and the other road was on a hill perhaps 500 yards away. As we sat on the fence watching the soldiers every once in awhile one would wave a hand and cry "Kamerad" to us. They seemed well fed and fit and did not seem depressed or discouraged. They were mostly going to Wurtemberg. Then the Villigen regiment, the 11th Infantry, arrived at Villigen, and the colonel demanded our prison quarters for his regiment.

Walking about Villigen we were well treated. Everyone seemed glad that the war was over. We were hailed as friends and many of the people said that they were coming to America. Many of them had relatives already in America.

Lieutenant Emory, who died at Villigen of pneumonia a few days after arriving from Heidelberg, was the only American officer, as far as I know, who died in Germany. He had been gassed and captured a few days before the end of the war and was being treated in a hospital for gas victims. His pneumonia had appeared light, but his lungs were weakened by the gas. With good lungs he probably would have recovered. He was in the prison camp a few days and then he died. The British and French prisoners wore yellow stripes on the seam of their trousers to denote that they were prisoners of war, but the Americans were never thus distinguished. I do not know if it was because of the American puttees, or if America was not in the war long enough to have a distinctive mark other than the identification tag.

This tag was not to denote that we were prisoners but to insure for us the respect due officer prisoners of war. Otherwise we might be subjected to the same disdainful treatment that German officers and soldiers extend to German civilians. In our commanding officer. Major Brown was from San Diego and had been in charge of the government flying school at San Diego long before the war. He was captured with his squadron of five bombing planes after being compelled to descend in German territory.

The American merchant marine prisoners, though rated as officers, had no uniform or insignia of rank, so they were supplied with identification tags worn on the arm. In some of the German military prisons pieces of one coat sleeve were removed and the identification tag sewed in place of the removed patch. The army officers also wore the identification tag. But at Villigen the tags were simply worn over the sleeve and tied on. The British and French prisoners wore yellow stripes on the seam of their trousers to denote that they were prisoners of war, but the Americans were never thus distinguished. Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache; stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, and stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make any one who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

13-Year Salary Claim Scratched by Court

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Barred by the statute of limitations, Mrs. Anna Watson will be able to collect but two years of the fifteen years' salary which was due her as nurse to the late Charles Dowling, ranch owner, according to a decision by Judge Sturtevant yesterday. Mrs. Watson brought suit for $15,000 which she claimed was a reasonable value for her services. She explained that Dowling promised her he would provide liberally for her in his will. When he died in 1917 he bequeathed her $1000.

The case goes to the jury today. Judge Sturtevant yesterday instructed the jurors that in case they found Mrs. Watson entitled to a judgment they should compute it for two years only as a judgment for service could not go back beyond that.

NEDDERMAN IS STILL WAITING FOR HIS SALARY

Although Chief of Police Henry Nedderman has an opinion from City Attorney H. L. Hagan to the effect that his salary can't be held up by the city auditor until he refunds the $470 paid for his trip East to attend the police chiefs' convention, he hasn't got his salary yet, and is no nearer getting it than he was before.

"Attorney Hagan's opinion was addressed to Commissioner Morse and turned over to him by the chief," says Le Bailleur. "No formal notification was given me; in fact, the only notice I have at all is a scrap of waste paper, with a note scrawled by the chief, saying: 'What are you going to do about this?'"

"The Nedderman situation is just where it always was. When the chief turns in an itemized expense bill for that trip, with the vouchers, and I find them all legal and regular, I'll act accordingly."

"In the meantime the baby needs shoes," said Nedderman.

POLITENESS FAILS

The purchase was agreed upon after war department lawyers had declared it was illegal for the government to give away any materials.

KISS PLANTED ON FOREHEAD WRECKS HOME

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—When a jury in Judge Monroe's court brought in a verdict of $1750 in favor of Mrs. Maude E. Burdick and assessed against Mrs. Nellie Lee, on the ground that Mrs. Lee had stolen the love of Page Burdick, the plaintiff's husband, they disregarded the closing argument of Capt. Ralph Graham, attorney for Mrs. Lee.

"Look at him! What would you jury men give for him? Mrs. Burdick wants $10,000; four bits would be a big price. If there is any award in this case it should go to Mrs. Lee as a pension."

TELLS OF AUTO TRIPS. Testimony showed that the Burdicks had been married 20 years and that they came to Los Angeles from Denver five years ago. Burdick obtained employment in a store owned by Lee at the corner of Sixteenth and Arizton streets. Shortly after he began working at the store he was often seen with Mrs. Lee in an automobile. It was claimed by the defense that the auto trips were made delivering goods from the store.

"Once when I was detected," said Mrs. Lee, "Mr. Burdick kissed me on the forehead in sympathy."

It was stated that Lee learned of the kissing episode and left his wife. She afterward obtained a divorce. Since Mr. and Mrs. Lee parted she has been living at an apartment house where Burdick has been staying since last September. He admitted taking his meals at this time in Mrs. Lee's apartment.

WRONG-DOING DENIED. "There has never been anything wrong in our relations," Mrs. Lee testified on the stand. "I take my meals with me and we go to the expense so that we can make ends meet."

"What did you say when he kissed you?" asked Judge Monroe.

"I don't remember that I said anything," replied the witness.

Mrs. Myrtle Noble, a sister of Mrs. Burdick, said that she had lived in their home in Denver and here and that before Burdick met Mrs. Lee he was a "very loving husband," and that afterward he "was very cold and distant."

NEW APPRAISER NAMED. SAN JOSE, March 11.—J. L. Haskins, a real estate dealer of this city, has been appointed inheritance tax appraiser for this section, according to word received today from Sacramento. He succeeds J. L. Atteridge.

Solons in Favor of Good Roads Ready to Back Forty Million Bonds

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—A $40,000,000 bond issue for highway building may be proposed to the California voters by the legislature. That a bond issue will receive the almost unanimous support of the senate and assembly is certain.

The legislature will demand, however, to be shown that the issue will not be too great a financial burden on the State. They insist that every county in the State shall be benefited by the proposed program, and that no section favorably be shown.

The State has heretofore voted two bond issues, totalling $33,000,000 for highway construction. Under the terms of these issues, the counties are paying the interest on the bonds, while the State is paying back the principal, $40,000,000, on one year, $800,000 the next, and so on with annual increases of $400,000 until the principal is cancelled.

That the program as outlined by the "Committee of 21" will not be satisfactory in its present form is declared. The entire matter is to be threshed out in an open legislative hearing Friday.

FOR GOOD ROADS. The following statements on the highway legislative hearing were given the United Press today by Senators and Assemblymen from all parts of the State.

Senator Evans, Riverside: "I am for good roads. But we must not try too much at once. It is better to say no than to bankrupt ourselves."

Assemblyman Lindley, San Diego: "We've got to have good roads, and by increasing the motor-vehicle taxation we can raise money for some of them while we are waiting to pass the bonds."

Ex-Senator Burlingame: "We need the roads. And we can secure a $40,000,000 just as easily as one for $20,000,000."

Assemblyman Martin, Salinas: "Roads are one of the best assets California. We must have them. They double property values, thereby increasing taxation revenues. And $40,000,000 bonds would be paid over a period of seven years, while the State is spending $7,000,000 biennially."

Senator Yonkin, Los Angeles: "I am in favor of all the good roads there are, and all we can get."

Assemblyman McCray, Redding: "I want to line up for the bonds, but I want to know where the money's going to be spent."

Assemblyman Fleming, Los Angeles: "Roads are the best investment the State can make. California's good road system is leveling down the mountains and wiping out all prejudice of sectionalism. I'm a crank on good roads."

Assemblyman Graves, Los Angeles: "I am in favor of good roads."

be expended with care."

They can have any amount they want, provided that it will be expended with care."

Senator Ous, Alameda: "I think we can safely go $20,000,000 and have them pass."

Senator Brown, Los Angeles: "I'm in favor of good roads, projects first, last and all the time."

Senator Nelson, San Francisco: "I'm in favor of good roads, but not in favor of opening up private lands with public money, like was done in San Francisco with the 'dollar-a-day road'."

Assemblyman Bromley, Los Angeles: "We want all the money we can get, but we don't want to go so high that we'll be voted down."

Assemblyman Bruck, St. Helena: "I'm for $15,000,000. Don't make it too much before seeing how it is to go."

Assemblyman Argabrite, Ventura: "Favorable all the way."

Assemblywoman Morris, Bakersfield: "Forty million should be a big sum. I'm for a reasonable amount."

Assemblywoman Broughton, Modesto: "Now is the time for the State to get busy on construction work. I'm certainly in favor."

Assemblywoman Mathews, Susanville: "Not over $40,000,000. It must be a comprehensive scheme to satisfy all and bring a united front in favor of the issue."

Assemblyman Brown, El Centro: "Good roads will help make the money to pay for themselves. Make the issue big enough to help all parts of the State."

Assemblyman Pettit, Fresno: "I don't think there's any question but that Fresno will support the bonds. I'm for them."

Assemblyman Morris, San Francisco: "I'm in favor of good roads. As big as $40,000,000. Good roads mean prosperity, but there must be some limitation."

Senator Hart, Los Angeles: "Good roads are our best asset. Any money properly spent for good roads is a good thing for the State."

Assemblyman McColgan, Warren, Goetting, Godsil and others of the bay region around San Francisco pressed themselves in favor of a big issue of highway bonds.

Senator Anderson, Oakland: "I'm strong for good roads."

Senator Rominger, Long Beach: "I'm heavily in favor of a good strong issue, sufficiently large to take care of the main highway arteries, with State aid in addition for county laterals."

AFTER INFLUENZA, GRIP And Other Prostrating Diseases That Exhaust the Strength.

There is always a depleted condition of the blood, that extreme tired feeling, nervousness and digestive weakness from which recovery is slow unless a blood-purifying medicine is taken.

The lack of red corpuscles in the blood makes it too thin properly to nourish the body, and the result is prostration, anorexia, nervousness, boils, loss of appetite and poor digestion prevent progress towards health.

Hood's Sarsaparilla meets these conditions perfectly, as many people know. It has proved the greatest blood-purifying, vitalizing medicine. Nothing else so good in spring.

Ingredients used by the best physicians for impure blood, scrofula, rheumatism, weakness. Truly it purifies the blood and makes the weak strong. For a fine family cathartic, take Hood's Pills. Advertisement.

FRENCH RULE TEACHES RUSS HE IS BEATEN

MAEYENCE, Feb. 11 (by mail).—There is no friction between the Germans and the French in the occupied enemy territory. This is the largest city the French army occupies and, with the exception of a hard look or two, the Germans show no resentment here.

The French are strict, but they do not rub in the fact that they are conquerors. Swanking with them is unknown, while the respect the Germans show for the law the fewer are the restrictions.

"It is like this," explained Major Deville, commandant at Kaiserslautern. "We early came to the conclusion that if we posted a notice containing prohibitions implicit obedience to the edict must be demanded. The Germans have been ruled by the iron hand so long that they regard as an exhibition of weakness any permission to sleep a rule."

MUST KNOW DEFEAT. "Then, it is necessary to be strict, not only to protect the people and the army, but to convince the Germans that they are not allowing us to stay here merely on sufferance because they had decided not to put up with us (longer as some of them believe) but that they really are a conquered people. If we are not strict and severe they regard us as soft. Our only thought, however, is to rule justly, and if the inhabitants behave themselves their privileges are extended."

The major then gave some illustrations. At the beginning of the French occupation all telephoning was prohibited, except for certain administration or industrial necessities, the reason being that the Germans were a convenient source of information. Recently, this ruling has been modified to authorize use of the telephone within limits of certain cities.

At the beginning of the occupation there was the strictest censorship over letters, which has been much liberalized. Then, too, there have been changes in what the people regard as the most irksome of all regulations, the "ringing of the curfew" at 8 o'clock at night. In some places the French have added a couple of hours so that the populace can visit the opera, concert, theater and movies.

Strict censorship of the press continues and nothing can be published which reflects upon or criticizes the French army, government or any of the allies. Public meetings cannot be held without authorization from the commandant, the single exception being church services.

French army officers and soldiers have considerably surprised the Germans by going to church, proving to them that they are not irreligious. In Kaiserslautern, the townpeople are growing familiar with the spectacle of the cure's welcoming General Fayolle at the door of the church every Sunday morning.

German policemen continue to perform their duties under the new regime, costumes being the same, but wearing a brassard of the arm. An exception has been made of some of the higher police officials, however, who were found impregnated by Kaiserism.

They were given the sack by the French. German officials cannot sign decrees. If new regulations are necessary they must be approved by the French commandant, who issues them in his own name.

No trouble is experienced with mayors of cities of less than 25,000, where the people elect these functionaries, but not so much can be said regarding the mayors in the larger cities. In the French have often found them still playing the game of imperial politics.

Germans are paying close attention to the work of the French commissions working in conjunction with the army. When the French came they announced they would continue existing functionaries and administration as far as possible. The question of the higher authority of the army commandant, the French brought in the commissions, which are composed of men learned in finance, industry, law, history and engineering. Each commission of occupation has a commission, while there are commissions of lesser importance in many other places.

SENATOR FLAYS COURTS OF ARMY. NEW YORK, March 11.—Describing certain courts-martial sentences in the American army as "things that make Bolsheviki of our young men," United States Senator George F. Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate committee on military affairs, today flayed the courts-martial procedure in an address before the United States War League of America here.

Referring to long sentences which had been imposed for slight infractions of the rules, Senator Chamberlain said that "these boys know that an injustice has been done them, and it will not increase their respect for the government. 'I have found boys of 17 and 18, not yet mature,' he continued, 'sent away for long terms in prison, some of them because they were absent without leave—homeless youths who left to stay cozy by their mothers or perhaps a last word with their sweethearts. Five days away led one of them to be sentenced to forty years.'"

Senator Chamberlain urged a better treatment of the returning soldiers, and asked every business to employ men who gave up their positions to enter the service. If they were physically capable of doing the work. The question of unemployment, he asserted, was largely up to the business man for settlement.

House Committee to Make Trip Abroad. WASHINGTON, March 11.—Several members of the House military committee will accompany Secretary Baker to Europe at his invitation to inspect the American army of occupation and American camps. They expect to sail from New York on the George Washington soon after April 1.

Representatives Dent of Ala.; Fields, Ky.; Olney, Mass.; Nicholls, South Carolina; Harrison, Va.; Anthony, Tex.; and Hull, Iowa, have accepted the invitation. Representatives Quinn, Missa; Caldwell, N. Y.; Wise, Ga.; Green, Vermont; and Morin and Crapo, Pa., who are absent from Washington also will be asked to make the trip. Representative Kahn, California, who will become chairman in the next Congress, is already on his way abroad.

Benedicts Exempted $2000 for All Year

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Benedicts were this afternoon rewarded for their heroism. In a new ruling the internal revenue bureau decided that victims of the new income tax who married during the year 1918 will be allowed the full yearly $2000 married men's exemption in determining their taxes; even though they did not marry until December 31, 1918.

Y.W.C.A. Starts Drive for $40,000 Plans Enlarged Community Service

The finance campaign of the Young Women's Christian Association of Oakland and to raise $40,000 toward the $75,000 budget required in the program of work for the coming year is in full swing today. At the noon hour the workers who have pledged to raise the big sum met at a luncheon and an enthusiastic rally, in preparation for an invasion of the business and residential districts. Business men representing the important commercial bodies, their wives, the clergy of Oakland and their wives, were entertained at a reception in the Webster street building last night, when the board of directors undertook to show something of the scope of the local institution. A Young Woman's Christian Association rally was held in the forenoon.

While $37,000 is estimated as the sum necessary to take care of the local association work in the coming year, the institution is self-supporting to the extent of $17,000. The $40,000 which it has gone out to raise this week is made up largely of items for enlarged community service. In it, however, is a request for $5000 needed to complete the swimming pool.

INDUSTRIAL SURVEY MADE. One of the most important phases of the proposed new work to be conducted by the local association is taking care of the girls employed in the city industries and providing for a general housing plant that will meet the needs of the girls.

It has been fully rewarded by the personal gratification accruing from having carried out a big undertaking with signal success.

Work Campaign are handled by a committee of eleven made up of representatives of the seven organizations that combined in the campaign, with Cleveland H. Dodge as treasurer, and the President of the United States as a member ex-officio.

The cessation of hostilities changed the Y. W. C. A. expenditures very little. Even hostess houses, by request of the Government, will continue in demobilization camps. The thousands of girls engaged in war industries must be helped through the period of readjustment. The work in France and Russia cannot stop.

SUSPECT TAKEN TO SANTA CLARA

Santa Clara county won over San Francisco county, municipal officers and the federal government yesterday before United States Commissioner Krull in the light to secure custody of F. A. The Santa Clara county deputy took him away in spite of the fact that his bail went up to $2500 on account of the federal charge.

Vance was wanted in Santa Clara county for violation of his probation, extended to him there after his conviction and sentence to five years for bad check transactions.

Disloyalty Charge Is Fought in Court

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 11.—Demurrers to the joint indictment against A. C. Townley, president of the National Non-Partisan League, and Joseph Gilbert, charging a disloyal conspiracy and the separate indictment against Gilbert on a disloyalty charge, is being argued in the Minnesota Supreme Court today.

After denying the demurrers, Judge E. C. Deane of the Jackson county District Court certified the questions to the appellate court.

Townley and Gilbert are accused of having conspired late in 1917 to teach and advocate in printed matter circulated in Jackson county that citizens should not enlist in the military forces or otherwise aid the government in prosecution of the war. It is charged they circulated the National Non-Partisan League war program and "statement of principles" which the state contends was in violation of the state law against encouraging military enlistments and obstruction of the war program.

ANNA CASE HAS VOICE OF PURITY

By ROY HARRISON DANFORTH.

The explanation of the eight encores Anna Case sang last evening at the Auditorium Theatre must be compounded of many things. From the standpoint of art would have to be mentioned first her voice, its roundness, fullness, purity. From the chronological standpoint, however, her beauty must have precedence, for certainly that and the gracefulness that makes it speak won her audience before ever her first note sounded.

The thing we have all been awaiting, a justification for that unspeakable saffron stage setting which seems to be the inevitable background for Auditorium recitals, at last came to pass. In a gown of rosy-gold that soft green trimmings adorned, Miss Case made harmony out of that setting; more, she subdued it quite. The saffronness shrunk into itself and emerged a chastened cream and faded copper. Which was another reason for the eight encores: so fair a picture she made one could not let her go.

GREAT PURITY OF VOICE. Miss Case's voice is a lovely lyric organ, living quite up to this external promise she makes. Though lyric, it comes far from lacking dramatic properties of a positive kind, yet tempered by an intelligence in interpretation that makes variety the most quality of her expressiveness. The program was, for instance, of an eclectic sort, ranging from pure fun up to a deeply emotional tragedy. She gave a decidedly distinct and individual treatment to each song from extreme to extreme. This taste of hers, this selection of judgment upon material quite outside the vocal sphere, was of tremendous value. It found a voice of roundness and purity, if not always vibrant and rich, a sustained legato and an adequate range upon which to ride to our ears and for deeper.

Apparently, also, Miss Case is an explorer of no mean attainment. She has unearthed a gold mine in Scandinavia and taken from it a portmanteau of glittering nuggets. One of these was Soderman's "The Princess," which was for many quite the finest song she gave. For emotional expression it was hardly surmounted in the long program, and it brushed every jotting point of technical difficulty. Holmbeck's "To You" must have poised the vocal students in the audience at the brink of despondency by the perfection of vocal control that let her sustain her tones with such unwavering evenness. The "West-berga Polska" in the same group, Miss Case's nearest adventure to coloratura was a study in the sediments of self-estimation; it lacked nowhere in effectiveness simply because she kept it so well within her demesne.

SUNG WITH CHARM. But two operatic numbers appeared in the program, the "Port amor" from Mozart's "Gleise" being sung with a charm that removed quite all the lugubriousness of the libretto and into it. The best aria of Charpentier's "Louise," the "Depuis le Jour," was given with convincing expression and technical skill. One of the other songs was the northern group, "Synovous Song," about which Kjerulf ought certainly to have written an opera, was an even better example of that charm of feeling which she is able to assist.

The group of French songs won immediate favor. In Ohlstrom's "Chanson d'aveu," which another soprano before Miss Case arranged for her own, last night's singer was quite at home. "L'Insecte au" by Xerkl was given in tones quite as winged as the text suggested, and "Il n'egle" by Hemberg was much like it. Dramatic power invested Chavane's "Il passa," the fluent ease of its rendition making its tenacity even more notable.

The group of moderns was arranged in an order that gave new evidence of Miss Case's sense of values. Macdonald's "Slumber Song," Curran's "Jaxon," a dainty little abode, and Parley's "Oh, Mother, My Love" were sung with exquisite grace. The last, tender and expressive and in the purest tone, was one of the rarest jewels of the evening, Miss Case creditably gave recognition to the compositional ability of her accompanist, Charles E. Sprague, in the Sprague number, "Robin, Robin, Sing Me a Song." His ability in sounding her at the piano had been evident throughout the evening.

Why do Some People Always Wake up Tired

LOTS of folks sleep all night. But they don't rest. They sleep too "light." Or they dream all night and get up in the morning almost as tired as when they went to bed.

Nobody can build up vitality this way.

Many don't get the right kind of sleep because of their beds. You can't get real sound sleep unless your bed invites every nerve and muscle to relax.

Most beds have a loose joint that rattles. Or a spring that creaks. Even the least bit of noise will keep the nerves on edge.

There isn't anybody who wouldn't sleep better if he'd get rid of his old wooden or loose-jointed rattling metal bed and get a Simmons Metal Bed and Slumber King Spring.

It is perfectly rigid—moves like one solid piece.

The Simmons Pressed Steel Corner Locks are protected by basic patents. They are the most fundamental inventions of modern bed manufacturing—exclusive with Simmons, not to be duplicated or imitated.

And these patented corner locks have made possible the Three-piece Bed—the new Simmons idea—the spring forming a single unit with the side rails.

THE Slumber King Spring really does what you have always wanted a spring to do.

It is a new and advanced idea. It is a system of elastic steel strips with spirals of high test spring wire—so combined that the spring action is equal in all directions.

The Slumber King Spring yields to the weight of the body, but supports it. It fits square on the bed. It does not sag, hump—or lose its resiliency. It is always a firm, elastic foundation for the mattress. It invites sound, health-giving sleep.

The Slumber King Spring is finished in oxidized silver. It is rust proof. It has no loose ends or rough corners—cannot wear or tear the ticking.

YOU probably are thinking a lot about sleep these trying days.

The Simmons Metal Bed and Slumber King Spring will give you better, sounder sleep than you have ever known.

Many folks can't sleep even in the best bed if they are disturbed by the restlessness of another sleeper.

The Simmons Company makes a specialty of Twin Beds—where one sleeper doesn't disturb the other or draw on the vitality—and you don't "catch" sore throats, coughs or colds.

All the leading merchants have Simmons Beds and Slumber King Springs.

Exquisite designs in brass, or enamel in colors and delicate "wood effects"—prices no higher than for ordinary beds.

If you care to write us, we'll tell you where to get Simmons Beds in this section.

Stomach Trouble Cured

My stomach was my master for years. I am a clerk in the office of the lumber department of the S. P. Co. and after every meal I had a sensation of grating sensation, and a feeling of fullness. I was broken and I was in a hospital for several weeks. The doctors first cleaned me out with a stomach pump. Then they treated me for ulcers and finally I did not improve. They observed my digestion through an X-ray. Concluding that they could do nothing for me they sent me home with the suggestion of an operation.

Then a fellow employee who had recovered a great benefit by drinking the FONG WAN CHINESE HERBS suggested that I try them. The first cup of tea brought me genuine relief, and after a few weeks I was entirely cured. I am back in the office and will be glad to give my personal testimony to any desiring it.

SHUN JOYRIDES, GIRLS ARE TOLD

BERKELEY, March 11.—"Joyrides" and "slumming parties" for both college men and girls are equally condemned by Dr. Romilda Barrett Meads, University of California physician for women.

"Great is the danger of the taxidermy and automobile to modern society," declared Dr. Meads yesterday in the first of a series of lectures on "Social Hygiene" given for university students in Wheeler auditorium. "Too many of these machines are 'joyrides' in the Berkeley and Oakland hills. It is my intention to disapprove anyone's 'brother' but for the sake of women girls college women must set an example."

Equally criticized by the lecturer were the so-called "slumming parties" participated in by young people to see the "sights" of a large city.

She scored the old contention that there must be a double standard of morals and declared that such a standard has been the result of ignorance alone. Dr. Meads is giving a series of three lectures at the University of California health service.

Tribune Will Issue Book

The work of compiling The TRIBUNE's classified and professional directory for the year 1919 progresses rapidly.

This directory, after publication in The TRIBUNE, will be reproduced in book form for general free distribution, and for preservation until the next issue.

The directory will be classified and alphabetically arranged so that the information may be had at a glance. It will be a handy guide and reference book to the business and professional people of our community.

The first portion of the book will be divided into necessary facts relative to points of interest in industries, city and county governments, post-office information (parcel post substations, postal savings, etc.).

There will be no personal solicitation, as the work is being done over the telephone, and a nominal listing charge of $3 is being made for each listing.

This directory is a co-operative work tending to show the importance of the Eastbay Cities as a business, commercial, professional and educational center.

If your profession or business is not listed in the phone book, you should phone Lakeside 6000 tomorrow.

MOTHER PLEADS FOR INSANE SON

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—The story of Enoch Arden, with a few variations, is being reenacted in Los Angeles.

Several years ago Clarence Lummis was married to a pretty Missouri girl. A few years later he joined the army and went to France.

Seeing her husband's name listed among the killed in a casualty list, Mrs. Lummis thought herself free to marry once more and became the wife of P. J. Doak, a salesman.

A week ago she was astounded to meet Lummis on the streets of Los Angeles.

After a conference with attorneys, Lummis had a suit filed to annul her marriage to Doak, and her attorneys say she will then sue to divorce Lummis and will remarry Doak.

Doak is in the receiving hospital as the result of the Oregon authorities returning him here after he had shown evidence of insanity in prison there. He had been committed for issuing a fraudulent check. They determined that as California is the state of his residence here, he should be returned here. He was sent to Oakland because his mother resides here.

The mother today said that her son's trouble is caused by his oldest brother, and that he intends, if released, to go to South America and get away from all his difficulties, beginning life all over again.

According to the Oregon authorities, Doak has a criminal record. In 1913 he was found guilty of killing his brother, but was judged insane and confined in the Southern California State Hospital. Upon his release in July, 1915, he went to Oregon. There he forged a check and returned to California. Several months ago he was arrested in San Francisco and returned to Oregon.

Defendant Wife Is Accused of Drinking

Intemperance is charged in the divorce complaint of Herman Christ against Margaret Christ today. It is alleged that because of the use of intoxicants the defendant wife acquired the habit of keeping late hours and seeing other men. Once she brought two gallons of wine into their home at the University avenue in Berkeley, against the protest of the husband, he claims, and her sister became intoxicated, ran out into the street and was arrested.

William G. Hinton accuses Elsie S. Harlan of cruelty. Mildred Bonnell alleges failure to provide against Nicholas Bonnell, and Anna M. Robertson accuses David M. Robertson of neglect.

DR. FISHER TO LECTURE

The Unity club will hold open meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the University avenue.

Fisher will deliver an address on "The Land of the Saints at the Top of America." There will be vocal and instrumental music. The public is invited. The meeting will be held at Starr Kirk hall, Fourteenth and Castro streets.

Inquiries Made on Australia Trade Edict

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Inquiries as to the accuracy of reports that Australia has prohibited the importation of all except British products were made today by the Department of Commerce through diplomatic and trade channels at the request of Australian manufacturers.

In the absence of official information it was believed here that the reports were erroneous, probably arising from the Australian order limiting the importation of dyestuffs to those of British make.

ENOCH ARDEN STORY WILL BE RE-ENACTED

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—The story of Enoch Arden, with a few variations, is being reenacted in Los Angeles.

Several years ago Clarence Lummis was married to a pretty Missouri girl. A few years later he joined the army and went to France.

Seeing her husband's name listed among the killed in a casualty list, Mrs. Lummis thought herself free to marry once more and became the wife of P. J. Doak, a salesman.

He had been committed for issuing a fraudulent check. They determined that as California is the state of his residence here, he should be returned here. He was sent to Oakland because his mother resides here.

The mother today said that her son's trouble is caused by his oldest brother, and that he intends, if released, to go to South America and get away from all his difficulties, beginning life all over again.

According to the Oregon authorities, Doak has a criminal record. In 1913 he was found guilty of killing his brother, but was judged insane and confined in the Southern California State Hospital. Upon his release in July, 1915, he went to Oregon. There he forged a check and returned to California. Several months ago he was arrested in San Francisco and returned to Oregon.

MILITARY COURT SYSTEM PLAYED

NEW YORK, March 11.—Describing certain courts-martial sentences in the American army as "things that make Enoch Arden of our young men," United States Senator George D. Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate committee on military affairs, sharply criticized courts-martial procedure in an address before the United Warist league of America here.

Referring to long sentences which had been imposed for slight infractions of the rules, Senator Chamberlain said that "these boys know that an injustice has been done and they will not increase their respect for the government."

"I have found boys of 17 and 18, not yet mature," he continued, "sent away for long terms in prison, some of them because they were without leave—homeless youths who left to say good-bye to their mothers or perhaps a last word with their sweethearts. Five days away led one of them to be sentenced for life."

Senator Chamberlain urged a better treatment of the returning soldier, and asked every business to re-employ men who gave up their positions to enter the service. If they were physically capable of doing the work, the question of unemployment, he asserted, was largely up to the business man for settlement.

Senator Chamberlain severely criticized what he described as American unpardonable in the war and asked whether post-war unpreparedness against the menace of radical labor and Bolshevism was going to be allowed to continue.

"There is no place in this country," the senator said, "for the Bolshevism, the anarchism or the hyphenated American. Out west we put them on a train every once in a while and hint none too gently that if they do not get out of the country that is trying to undermine the constitution and the freedom of democracy."

He said that the mayors attending the Washington conference last week agreed that the present situation is a dangerous current in motion to get control of interests which would jeopardize every dollar invested in business in the country.

BUFFALO HERD OFFERED FOR SALE

OMAHA, Neb., March 11.—What is said to be the first herd of buffaloes ever offered for sale on any open market in the world was received in South Omaha this morning.

The herd consists of thirteen cows, four yearling calves and a huge bull, is part of a herd of 250 buffalo from the famous Trinchera ranch, formerly owned by General Palmer and located near Fort Garland, in southwestern Colorado.

The bull in this herd, which was purchased in Chicago for $1,000, is veritable monarch of the desert and weighs 2,300 pounds. The cows weigh on an average of 1,200 pounds each.

The herd being privately owned and raised on a private ranch, the government has offered no objection to the sale.

Mothers Hold Party at Theater Tonight

The mothers of Oakland, or several hundred of them who are members of the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs, will hold their annual theater party at the Fulton playhouse tonight.

In addition to the play of the evening, Maude Fulton's own comedy, "Enter Mary Jones," with Jane Urban and her associates, the federation is to present, between acts, a program of its own, consisting of a poem by Mrs. J. W. Comstock, patriotic chairman, address of welcome, Mrs. Edward Morgan Jones, president; songs, Technical alumni quartet; cartoons, John Walbridge, Technical high school, whistling solos, Mrs. Margaret Spruance, Technical high.

Mrs. W. D. Bunker and Mrs. Fred Hall are in charge of the arrangements.

Heavy Sentence Is Given Train Robber

BELLINGHAM, Wash., March 11.—Six years in the state prison was the sentence imposed in superior court here upon Arthur Howard, alias Jack Lane, for the holdup of passengers on a Great Northern railway train at the Pullman station, twelve miles south of here, January 21. Howard obtained only about $10 from his operations.

Ship Is Chosen as Vanguard of Fleet

SEATTLE, Wash., March 11.—As the vanguard of a fleet of American merchant vessels to ply between New York and the Dutch East Indies, the Seattle built steel steamer Western Cross has been selected by the United States Shipping Board, according to advices received here today. The Western Cross, it is said, will be the first American vessel to enter that trade route in more than half a century.

$100,000,000,000 IS COST OF WAR

LONDON, March 11 (by British government wireless).—The total cost of the war to the allies estimated by the Pall Mall Gazette at $100,000,000,000. This does not include the incalculable damage done by the German troops in the area occupied, especially France and Belgium.

The reputation commission, appointed by the peace conference, has decided that Germany shall pay $40,000,000,000, this paper learns on good authority. It can be seen that this total represents only a small part of the total cost of the war to the entente powers. The main point to be determined by this commission was not what Germany should pay but what she could pay, continues the Pall Mall Gazette.

The amount was fixed by the commissioners after prolonged investigation and it indicates their opinion of the capacity of Germany to liquidate her financial obligation for the most infamous war in the history of mankind.

Germany's moral obligations, concludes the newspaper, never can be repaid.

Debs to Deliver "Farewell Address"

CLEVELAND, O., March 11.—As soon as the Supreme Court mandate affirming conviction of Eugene W. Debs is received here, Debs' bondsmen will be ordered to bring him in and then he will be taken to the Mountaineer, V. Va., federal penitentiary. Federal district Attorney Edward Vertz said today.

Debs is scheduled to deliver a "farewell address" here tomorrow night. He was tried in Cleveland on a charge of violating the espionage law.

PROFITEERING IN MILK CHARGED

BERKELEY, March 11.—Chalmers that evidence has been obtained which will substantiate all charges of profiteering made against the milk producers and distributors of Alameda county, the Berkeley Defense Corps, at a meeting last night, voted to send representatives to Sacramento to lay the results of their investigation before the legislative committee named to probe food prices.

At the same time the corps protested against the appointment of Senators Herbert Slater and B. M. Harris as members of the State committee, declaring that Slater in his capacity as an official of the Poultry Dealers' Association of California and Harris as an attorney for the San Joaquin Milk Producers' Association, could not act fairly in the deliberations.

The groups urged as a solution of present problems that the distribution of milk and other like commodities be taken over by a public utility and be regulated by a state commission.

A lengthy report concerning alleged profiteering on the part of milk producers and distributors was submitted by John Stewart, head of the organization's food investigating committee.

Love Field Halts Flying Practice

DALLAS, Texas, March 11.—Flying at Love Field ceased and with the exception of 65 men, the 1000 enlisted men and cadets will leave within the next two weeks for other flying fields. When announcement was made that flying would end at noon there was a general rush of fliers for their favorite "ships" and the air soon was thick with planes. Thirty machines, which had been "skywriting" in the air constantly for several hours landed down on the field at the strike of 12 and were trundled to their hangars where, with about one hundred other planes, they will be crated for shipment elsewhere.

THE WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE.

Great diversity of opinion appears to exist as to whether the League of Nations plan was strengthened or weakened as a result of the recent White House dinner and conference attended by senators and members of the House. According to the enthusiastic advocates of the league, President Wilson "fairly, fully and satisfactorily" met the points made against his plan. "The Monroe Doctrine, extended to the whole world, was in nowise endangered in the sphere of its original application," they aver the President assured them, "and our sovereignty would be limited only as it is limited in every treaty we make with a foreign power."

These opinions are greatly at variance with those expressed by certain senators who attended the conference. Senator Knox, for instance, declared in an interview, "the President displayed an amazing lack of familiarity with the proposed league constitution," while Senator Lodge was quoted as saying, "the President seemed actually befuddled about many most important points." The criticism of Senator Brandegee is even more sharp. He said: "With the wide-open eyes of an ingenu, the President met every legal, constitutional or common sense question with glittering generalities." These same opponents of the league insist that the President admitted that:

1. The League of Nations will not prevent war.
2. The United States must surrender vital points of sovereignty.
3. The Irish question is to be settled by England.
4. Chinese and Japanese exclusion go out of American control into the hands of the League Council.
5. The Monroe Doctrine will be extended to the whole world.
6. The present constitution is British made, the French, American and Italian drafts having been rejected.
7. American troops could be compelled at need to participate in purely European wars.
8. The United States could withdraw from the league at any time.

Constructive criticism, such as offered by Senator Lodge, should be welcomed, and the fact continually kept in mind that the draft of the league made public in Paris is not the finished constitution, embodying only the principles and not the form of the instrument. It is generally admitted that before final adoption the league plan must pass through the hands of expert revisers. Those who are intolerant of criticism and advocate accepting the crude form as presented are not the true friends of the League of Nations plan.

A KOREAN "REVOLT."

According to reports from agents in this country the Korean National Independence Union has declared for the independence of the Korean people of Japanese sovereignty. The news of this event is said to have come to Korean agents in San Francisco by way of Shanghai, the formal demonstration against Japan having taken place on March 1.

It would be ill-advised to place too much significance in this report until confirmed from other sources. There is no secret that a Korean party of considerable strength has been working for the restoration of the independent status of the "Hermit kingdom" for some time. They have conducted their propaganda in many countries, but most conspicuously in the United States. But that their efforts can be crowned with success now is a forlorn hope. Japan is strong in a military and financial way and Korea can at best hope to counter repressive methods by a long drawn out period of guerilla warfare.

Regardless of the favorable consideration that has been given that oft-repeated phrase, "every people has a right to govern itself as it chooses," however true people everywhere are to the ideal of liberty and self-government, the present condition of practical international politics is not favorable to new revolutions against established authority. The world has had enough war and enough of suffering; and people everywhere being humanly selfish regarding mental peace, any effort to prolong the agony is almost certain to receive a cold greeting.

The Korean revolutionaries obviously hope to create embarrassments for Japan in the Paris peace negotiations and to obtain assistance from the other Ally powers in obtaining recognition for their claims. In their lack of information and over-abundant faith they hope this can be done. But they are doomed to disappointment, even should they succeed in getting their agents to Europe.

Probably the Department of Justice will view with considerable interest the disclosure that a Korean revolutionary junta exists in the United States. It has gained experience from the Mexican and Hindu revolutionary activities, both of which assumed quite serious proportions at one time. The Hindu revolt campaign in this country was tolerated for three years before German agents tried to exploit it and the British government protested against the open violation of American neutrality.

An equally disagreeable development may mark the Korean propaganda. It is a settled tenet of international law and of the policy of this country under its international obligations that, while it extends sanctuary to political refugees from another land, it cannot permit the territory of the United States to be used as headquarters for conducting and promoting hostile acts against a friendly government. Proceedings against all unlawful propaganda by foreigners and in favor of a foreign political enterprise should be prompt and effective.

DEALING WITH THE BOLSHEVIKI.

The story developed with some tediousness, though absolutely true to reasonable deductions from the facts established early in the plot. The conclusion will surprise only those who have not closely followed the proceedings of the last two years.

When Lenin and Trotsky seized governmental powers in Petrograd it was known that they were receiving aid from the Potsdam gang in the form of gold and the necessary facilities for promoting plots against the cause of the Allies. This was subsequently confirmed by documentary evidence and by the activities of the Bolshevik regime.

Mr. Raymond Robins was in Russia during the early weeks of Bolshevik power and, according to his testimony before the United States Senate, enjoyed facilities for conversing and otherwise communicating with Lenin and Trotsky. Later he returned to the United States and remained in Washington for three or four weeks.

In one of his diatribes against the acts of the federal government in sending military expeditions to Russia and in keeping them in that country until the present, Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California spoke of the fact that despite Mr. Robins' sojourn in Washington he had not been able to see and talk with the President. This was given in the spirit of a criticism of the President and was emphasized as such by one of Mr. Johnson's colleagues.

Hon. David R. Francis, American Ambassador to Russia, testified before the Senate a few days ago that Mr. Robins had come to this country, he was informed, with a message to the national government from the Bolshevik German agents, Lenin and Trotsky. Mr. Francis said he believed Lenin was a German agent.

Now, while the United States government has never declared a state of war to exist between this country and the forces controlled by the Bolshevik leaders, Lenin and Trotsky, it has actually waged war against those forces. A military force was sent into Siberia and another to the Murmansk and Archangel coast. War was declared and waged against Germany, of which country it is understood Lenin and Trotsky were the agents.

Assuming that what the record has intimated is wholly true and that Ambassador Francis is correct in his information, Mr. Raymond Robins came from Russia to Washington with a message from an enemy power, that is, a power against which the United States was actually waging armed hostilities. If a formal declaration of war against the Lenin and Trotsky regime had been issued that would have been a very serious offense. Therefore the offender was saved only by a technical omission from being liable to a very serious penalty.

It was not the first time the President had refused to receive agents from a hostile power. If he declined to admit an emissary from Lenin and Trotsky to the White House he did just what the country wished him to do, just what his duties as President and commander-in-chief of the armed forces demanded that he do.

We cannot say positively that Mr. Robins came home with a message from the Bolshevik, but that is the conclusion to be drawn from the testimony of Mr. Francis.

If this is correct, Mr. Robins was quite properly ignored. To have adopted any other course toward him would have been to commit an act of bad faith with our Allies and with the soldiers arrayed against the enemy on the battlefield. It is quite beside the point that the American peace commission, of which the President is the head, voted to negotiate with Lenin and Trotsky agents in the Sea of Marmora. This is to be regretted regardless of what happened in Washington.

NOTES and COMMENT

When we read that there are 929 notaries public entitled to operate in Alameda county we realize that there is abundant opportunity to swear. That there are but 120 in San Francisco curtails their opportunities over there in a notable degree.

The disposition of the Hun generals and others who figured large when the figuring for them seemed good to now explain how they "didn't do anything," and that if their advice had been followed it would have been different, is exemplified in the promulgations of General Ludendorff. The time is approaching when a heavy hand is likely to be laid on them, and they are playing for position, as they say at billiards.

This is the last week in which to return this year's income tax reports. Making them out may be a baffling task, but it must be performed somehow. Not wholly chimerical is the idea that a guess as to what is required will get past. Government officials who have to do with these matters cannot be so enormously superior to the many who find themselves nonplussed and make a run and jump at it.

We are advised in a news despatch that the $2.26 guarantee on the nation's wheat crop may not result in loss to the government. Which is just the point. It will be small comfort to the people if it shall come about that the loss is made to fall upon them individually as consumers rather than upon the national government.

Hoover is to quit next summer. It is to be acknowledged that he has done important work. He is one of the men who have come prominently to the surface in the great emergency and who won the entire confidence of the people in work that was wholly without precedent.

The Red Cross could very properly now stage a drive for world health. This superb organization, it would seem, could do stupendous things toward improving world conditions as to the physical well being of its inhabitants. There are so many who are ignorant or indifferent as to the commonest laws of sanitation and hygiene, and who might be served if it were made somebody's business to look after and advise them.

Each disclosure that is made of the Hun seems to transcend the previous one. The latest, of organized and systematized destruction of Belgian factories, could not have been outside in mere malignancy by the prehistoric ancestors of these people in their most barbarous hours. The deeper the atrocities are gone into the less is civilization moved to condone.

The governor of New York has been petitioned to prohibit the season of German opera that is about to begin in New York City. The country has been musically exploited so long from this quarter that it seems all but impossible to break loose, though it certainly is high time.

There is said to be a movement in the California legislature to endorse the action of the Utah legislature in banning the manufacture of cigarettes and cigarette materials. It is an unusual action of California's legislature, and partakes of the nature of that proceeding that is indelicately expressed in the term, "Trying it on the dog."

The report of the efficiency committee appointed by the governor to see if superfluous commissions and their superabundant attorneys cannot in some measure be mitigated, recommends that all litigation for the State should go to a legal bureau, instead of being attended to peripatetically by the particular attorney of the particular commission where the litigation centers. This seems to be so reasonable that the wonder is that it was not recommended and put into practice long ago.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS.

"The army of attaches left their work and openly lobbied for votes," says a Sacramento despatch. Notes, like an item in the days when the bad old machine was in control, doesn't it? By the way, the observing public may notice that there is very little difference in political machines, no matter by whom they are controlled.—Bakersfield Californian

Oakland is threatening her soldier boys who had city jobs. Unless they report within sixty days they can't have their places back. Oakland is assuming that a fellow can throw up his job in the army and come home whenever he wants to. Some of them have tried it and been court-martialed as deserters. Others are trying it the regular, lawful way and are finding it a lot more difficult to break out of the army than it was to get in.—Stockton Record

Railroad men will be interested to learn that "pay curves" on the Southern Pacific's Tucson division has been realized so that it no longer presents the difficulties that brought gray hairs to many officials. It got its name from the fact that a pay car with $60,000 turned over there in 1888, killing several men and burning up the money aboard.—Modesto News

Local brewers claim that the present supply of beer will not last until May 15. This statement bears the appearance of reliability when one has the ocular proof of the soft drink joints that are preparing to quench the thirst of the tired workman—and there may be a "kick" in the root beer and "guinness" "hollywash," too.—Richmond Terminal

TROUBLE FOR THE ENGINEERS: AN OBSTRUCTION AHEAD

VIGO-New Port For American Trade

Vigo, the Spanish port now being developed with the aid of American capital so that it may become an entering point for American trade with Europe, and the journey from New York to Paris shortened by twenty-four hours, is described in the following bulletin just issued by the National Geographic Society.

"Clinging to a hillside, overlooking the Ria de Vigo, a Galician fjord which pierces the northwest coast of Spain for a distance of nearly nineteen miles, Vigo city and its magnificent harbor give an impression of beauty and romance, rather than a suggestion of commercial possibilities.

"Summer mornings, before the war, many hundreds of tourists might be seen picking their way carefully down the steep narrow streets toward the popular bathing beaches.

"Enhancing the charm of the old town are two ancient and obsolete forts, perched on the hill upon which it is built, with higher mountains rising in the distance to form an impressive background for the entire scene.

"Vigo harbor clings tales of the sort the small boy likes to hear in the twilight by the open fireplace—tales of mighty sea battles, and sunken treasure, and even a lurid suggestion of Captain Kidd! Some of these stories lie on the borderland of history, and fade almost imperceptibly into legend.

"Of course, Admiral Benbow is highly authentic. During the war of Spanish Succession the French sent a naval expedition to the West Indies to help protect a homeward bound Spanish fleet of silver-laden vessels. Whereupon the English sent that doughty old seadog, John Benbow, to intercept the French, if he could, in West Indian waters where he had made a reputation when but a youth in encounters with Saltee pirates.

"Admiral Benbow did not find the French fleet, but he sighted a squadron of French vessels off Santa Maria and gave chase. The captains of nearly all his ten vessels mutilated. His personal courage compelled the support of the officers on his flagship, the Breda, and he continued the pursuit. On the fourth day he was severely wounded in the leg. The moment the flow of blood was checked he returned to the quarter deck. He implored his officers, in case he should be shot down, to 'behave like men and fight it out.' Three months later Admiral Benbow died of his wound, but before that his subordinates had been brought before a court-martial. Some were imprisoned. Two were shot for cowardice.

"This exploit, and others, gave rise to a host of anecdotes concerning the plucky sea fighter and pirate chaser. A popular ballad about him marked the origin of the hero known as 'My name is Captain Kidd, as I sailed, as I sailed,' which is little more than a parody on the Benbow chant.

"Meanwhile the Spanish 'silver fleet' put in at Vigo, behind the protecting islands at the harbor's outlet. An English-Dutch fleet at Cadiz got wind of that fact and scurried to attack the treasure ships. Most of the Spanish ships were sunk. But opinion differs about the disposal of their coveted cargo. One account states that a million pounds' worth of silver was taken away by the victorious fleet; other accounts say practically all the silver had been taken ashore, while a third contention is that much of it went down with the Spanish ships.

The last mentioned theory does not find much historical support, but it is the one upon which numerous fortune hunters have worked in their efforts to recover the supposedly lost treasure.

"Many steamships plying between Europe and South America stop at Vigo. The city has shipbuilding plants and export industries. It has paper, flour and sawmills, sugar and petroleum refineries, distilleries, tanneries and soap factories. Its population at present is about 25,000, but if the present plans for making it a port of call for passenger and cargo vessels from New York materialize it is destined to enjoy rapid expansion."

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

How Marvellous Mechanism of Ears Records Sounds

BY DR. LEONARD K. MIRSHBERG
(Johns Hopkins University.)

If you had no such structure as the ear you might recognize or perceive sounds of a simple kind just as the amoeba or any other jelly-like bit of an animalcule.

One thing seems to be certain—the brain and nerves do not perceive anything. They are merely the swift wireless pathways through which memories, perceptions, sensations and impressions upon the ears and other senses reach the muscles and other living parts.

The ear is a complex structure with an outer shell and canal, middle chamber with its telephonic chain of three tiny bones and an internal or innermost section of the ear which has a string-instrument appearance. In the spiral stairway of the cochlea, as the conch-shaped part of the ear is called, are the "keys" or "hair cells" of the organ. There is a lymph or watery fluid in the cochlea, which is elastic and compressible in order to transmit sound from the outer world.

The fact that water is hard to compress is proof of its elasticity. Elasticity is the tendency of the smallest particles of water to return to their undisturbed positions. An incompressible fluid contained between solid walls is distinguishable from a compressible one, because each impression which reaches any part of its surface communicates itself immediately throughout the whole fluid, and sets every part instantly in motion.

In a compressible fluid a wave proceeds from the spot of action and travels with a certain velocity, which sets in motion the several particles of the fluid consecutively. In the spiral labyrinth of the inner ear the dimensions of the whole mass are infinitely small in comparison with the wave length. The walls of the bone which enclose it are also solid.

When a vibration in the air outside of the ear stirs, the communication of the action throughout the chambers of the ear is practically instantaneous.

In a double-acting hydraulic engine a similar condition of affairs occurs. The high pressure water is admitted into a cylinder and the piston is pushed forward and backward alternately.

The piston rod carries the pressure to the crank shaft, and this does work. The equivalent unit pressure disappears in the exhaust water, which is pushed out at atmospheric pressure.

The same displacement of liquid takes place in the exhaust, but the displacement is reduced in pressure by the equivalent amount of work carried out of the system.

When a compound wave or vibration of air enters the ear you have indications, not only of the original impulses of the tones from which the air wave is built, but of the harmonies, differential tones and the harmonics.

These all become sensations and perceptions. The brain is only a cross-roads, and does not contain thought or musical understanding. The ear is the mechanism which holds and adapts itself to sustain the impulses and compounds of air movement which you know as sound, noise, music.

The human ear is indeed a remarkable instrument, which has been interposed between you, your ego, your personality and the world of reality. It is by no means perfect. It does not hear air vibrations faster than 40,000 a second, or slower than 16 a second. Insect, bird and fish ears, however, are made to do some of the things the human ear cannot do.

LONG WAY TO PAY DAY FOR SERVICE BONUS

Nine million dollars is the extra pay or bonus authorized by Congress for the 150,000 (estimated) Californians received for army and navy service after April 6, 1917. If one-fifth of the number have already been released and each received the $30 extra pay which was first authorized, $900,000 has been placed in California hands.

That those now entitled to an equal additional sum may know how to quickly secure it, the State committee on readjustment through its newly created war risk insurance department is sending out information as to mode of procedure.

FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED.
To each county division chairman of placement work has been sent a full copy of a telegram from the war department which was published in its entirety in the TRIBUNE last week, giving detailed instructions. The county division chairmen are to see to it that ex-service people get the information promptly.

"First come, first served," is the working plan of the government in paying the additional $30 to those who left the service before the second bonus was authorized, if a final settlement was then made.

Those whose papers reach Washington and are approved will receive check number one. As over a million and a quarter of such checks are to be issued, preceded by an examination of papers, the utility claimants may find it a "long, long way to pay day."

Those who left service but whose final settlement was delayed and those released subsequent to receipt of the order to pay $30 need take no action. The final vouchers in such cases will include the $30, and arrears of other pay due.

RECORDED WITHOUT FEE.
But no one partly paid will see the color of the $30 bill due until discharge papers and other documents are on file.

Oakland's Pretty 'Newsies' Sell Papers to Aid Wounded Soldiers

Down-to-the-minute "newsies" are selling papers in Oakland these days, and here are two who ask passers-by at Twelfth and Broadway to buy the Listening Post, every sale of which benefits wounded soldiers in Letterman General Hospital. The girls are HELEN BEHREND (left) and MARIAN CROSS.

War Camp Community Girls Gladly Swell the Fund With "The Listening Post"

"Buy a paper. Buy a paper. Only a nickel." Oakland's "newsie" girl has made her appearance. This is her cry. She's selling papers, too. Everybody wants to buy one.

"Help the wounded soldiers," she pleads as the nickels grow into dollars and the big armful decreases.

Over at the Letterman general hospital each week the boys get out a bright, brisk, eight-page magazine. It contains all sorts of things interesting to the men themselves, but to the public as well.

5 GIRLS FLEE OVER FENCE TO FREEDOM

Five girls of the California Girls' Training school at Alameda scaled a 14-foot fence last night and made their escape. Christine Carmody, a "trusty" engineered the plot, according to police information. She opened the door that led into the yard, helped the girls over the fence and escaped with them.

The escape was made at 10:30, but was not discovered until roll call this morning. Two girls who had seen the escape, but had held back the information, then told what they knew.

A ladder was used to reach the top of the fence. There the barbed wire was tied down and padded with girls' clothing.

The Carmody girl had been at the institution a year and a half. She was 17 years old and wore a long yellow coat and a white fur.

Eugenie Glass, 17-year Chile girl, had twice before escaped from the institution and been captured. The other girls were all recent comers.

They were: Beatrice Andrews, 17, light sport suit, tan o'shelter; Ethel Reed, 15, blue suit, poke bonnet; Nellie Clement, 16, long blue coat, yellow ribbon.

TWO EASTBAY STEEL CRAFT ARE LAUNCHED

Eastbay shipyards this morning replied to the recent intimation of the Emergency Fleet Corporation that ship construction must be speeded up or forfeitures of contracts would follow, by launching two steel craft having an aggregate of 17,500 tons. The vessels, though constructed under labor difficulties and other handicaps, left the ways but a few days later than the dates originally scheduled.

At 7:30 this morning the 12,000-ton steel tanker Derby Line left the ways at the Alameda plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation. There were no formal launching ceremonies.

The Derby Line is the first of twelve tankers to be constructed at the yard for the United States government. She is the second craft launched at the yard the current year and the twenty-sixth launched since the yard began building ships for the government.

The vessel was christened, marking a radical departure in shipbuilding ethics, five days before she was launched. Mrs. J. W. Powell, wife of the vice president of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, stood as sponsor for the craft.

At 8 o'clock this morning the 5500-ton freighter Deltale was launched at the plant of the Flanigan Drydock and Shipbuilding Company at the foot of Fifth avenue. Mrs. C. E. Honnison stood as sponsor for the craft. The ceremonies were informal.

The Deltale is the second vessel launched at the Flanigan yard the current year and the fourth built there for the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

"LITTLE DINNER" WITH DUMMIES ENDS IN JAIL

"Jush" got 'take my lady friend out 't little dinner!" So explained Henry Parker, shipworker, to Policeman Milton Enright last night, as he clung to the waist of two thinly-clad figures with great persistence and ordered the policeman away with dignity.

The "lady friends" happened to be two clothing store dummies at Tenth and Clay streets. Wherefore Enright took Parker to the Central station and locked him up as a "drunk." Sergeant Jim Walters confirms his diagnosis. Judge Samuels will render final judgment.

JEWEL THIEF USES ROCK TO OBTAIN LOOT

BERKELEY, March 11.—Berkeley's window smashing burglar early this morning made his third appearance in this city when he hurled a rock through a window in a jewelry store owned by John Linder, 2403 Shattuck avenue. Loot valued at about $50 was taken.

Practically the same method as characterized his actions in the past was used this morning by the burglar. In all three instances stones covered with paper to deaden the sound were hurled through the windows.

Other thefts of a similar nature have occurred within the past week at the jewelry stores of L. H. Service, 3303 Shattuck avenue, and Peter Christensen, Adeline street and Alcatraz avenue.

Added to the city's park system. This triangle is owned by ten different owners.

INCOME TAX MEN ON DUTY AT BANKS

For the convenience of the public in paying income taxes representatives of the United States Internal Revenue office have been stationed at the Central Savings Bank, First National Bank and Oakland Bank of Savings, according to Andrew Macdonough, division deputy of the Internal Revenue Service. The offices in the banks will remain open during banking hours and taxes can be paid at these branches of the service. Advice will also be given to those who apply. The main office in the postoffice building is open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

There is a big rush at the Internal Revenue office in the postoffice building and a little business, according to Macdonough, and the work is progressing satisfactorily. There are also branches in Berkeley, Alameda and San Leandro. The office will be working out of Hayward tomorrow.

Collector of Internal Revenue Justin S. Wardell today issued an appeal invoking the aid of the honest citizen in bringing to justice the tax dodger. The bureau is planning the organization of a huge dragnet for bringing into camp all delinquents.

"In justice to the men who honestly and promptly meet their income tax obligations the heavy penalties provided by the new revenue bill for failure or refusal must and will be strictly enforced," said Collector Wardell. "Congress has carefully differentiated between the person who fails and the person who wilfully refuses to file his return and pay his tax within the time limit prescribed by law. Offenders of the first class are subject to a fine of not more than $1000 and those of the second class to a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for one year, or both, together with the cost of prosecution.

"Ignorance of the law cannot consistently be offered as an excuse by the man who fails to file his income tax on time. Wide publicity has been given the provisions of the new revenue bill. The vast majority, therefore, of the American people know the demands of the government."

Dr. Don D. Weaver Is Home on Furlough

Dr. Don D. Weaver, a young physician formerly in practice here, has returned on a month's furlough from the war hospitals in France. He is spending his time off with Dr. Willard H. Robinson in this city.

Weaver enlisted early in the war with the United States army and served a year and a half in the medical corps. When the United States entered the conflict he transferred to the American Expeditionary Force and worked among the injured and wounded at the front and in the hospitals until the war closed. He has since been in hospital service among the American casualties.

Following his furlough Dr. Weaver intends to spend a year in post-graduate studies in New York City before returning here to practice.

FRENCH WRITERS TO BE TOPIC.
The books of two French writers, Romain Rolland and Maurice Barres, will be discussed by President Reinhardt, Wednesday at 3:45 o'clock in Liber Hall on the Mills campus. Rolland's "Above the Battle" and Barres' "The Faith of France" and "War and the Spirit of Youth" are the books chosen in the course on "Books of Today and Tomorrow." The month of March is devoted to French writers.

Lenten Meeting at Macdonough Theater

The second of the series of union Lenten meetings will be held Wednesday at 12:15 at the Macdonough theater. Rev. C. S. Price of the Calvary Episcopal church will lead the music. Rev. William K. Towser, pastor of the First Baptist church, will deliver one of his brief optimistic addresses on "Facing the Future."

This will be a Lenten lesson applied to modern conditions, intended to show that one has nothing to fear who puts himself in line with the supreme facts and neither denies nor runs away.

CONDUCTED BY AD SCHUSTER

MARCH 11, 1919.

Robert T. Paine was born on this day in 1731, and James Speed in 1812. It is superfluous to add that the first was a signer of the Declaration of Independence and the second was attorney-general under Lincoln.

Boston breweries are to be turned into candy factories.

The name of the new Grand Vizier of Turkey, Damad Pasha, is what we would call an ideal one for a ruler. The populace may repeat it with proper emphasis and still be guiltless of lese majesty.

And, on the same line, right here in Oakland we have the Russell Mandolin Club.

Fayetteville, S. C., was captured on March 11, 1865.

Adele Garrison's New REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

HOW MADGE'S FEARS FORMED THEMSELVES INTO REALITY

"No wonder that a good night's sleep won't cure."

I repeated ironically to myself the words I had just uttered to Katherine. I hadn't wished to add to her worries by telling her of my own, but as the door closed behind her I looked around the walls of my room with a very lively fear in my heart.

My terror of Mrs. Allis, which had diminished since the night of Lillian Underwood's dinner, had been unexpectedly revived with the closing of the door behind Katherine. And yet I had no reason for any such emotion. From the time she had watched us enter Lillian's doorway we had seen nothing of her.

Dicky, indeed, openly expressed the opinion that Lillian's prompt action in regarding her home with private detectives on the night of her dinner had effectively frightened the woman. He also averred his belief that the only motive in her espionage was maliciously to annoy us, and that it was not she who fired the pistol shot through our hall door when we were entertaining for Robert Savarin, the man who had once believed himself to be her husband.

I tried to reason myself out of my panic, to tell myself that Dicky's judgment was undoubtedly correct, but I had little success. I would have gone to Dicky's room, but I was afraid that he would in some way show contempt for my fears, and my nerves were at such tension that I felt I would prefer real danger to Dicky's ridicule.

WHAT AROUSED MADGE.

So with hands that trembled, and my heart beating a tattoo against my side, I made ready for bed. The windows were securely fastened, as I found when I tested them, and I drew the heavy curtains over them, as if the fabric were an extra protection. Then I undressed rapidly, my unreasoning panic growing upon me, until, when finally I was ready for bed, I dived underneath the bedclothes and drew the covers over my head, as thoroughly frightened by my own nervous fears as any child could possibly have been.

I usually sleep without a night light, in fact, the tiniest gleam of light annoys me, keeps me awake, but before getting into bed I changed my reading light for one of low power and left it burning. It was beyond my strength of will to go to bed in darkness in a room where every corner spoke to my heated imagination of the woman I feared.

It seemed hours before I went to sleep and I knew that it was after 1 o'clock when I finally lost myself in slumber, for I remember hearing a clock strike that hour. My awakening, on the contrary, was swift and terrifying. A hand

DOUBT

By Edgar A. Guest

Upon this earth we walk about,
There's altogether too much doubt.
Men doubt the books upon their shelves
And doubt their neighbors and themselves.
They doubt the strength that they possess,
And doubt their fellow man's success.
They doubt the motives of a friend;
Doubt that the present will be end.
Yet joy returns and truth exists
And sunshine clears away the mists.

This life appears to be a bout
With the remorseless foe of doubt.
On every hand its troops are placed
And everywhere its guns are faced.
Who yearns to reach a mountain peak
Must overcome the doubt that's spread
Like tangled weeds where he must tread.
Believing with a faith sublime
That he shall reach the top in time.

There is no sustenance in doubt;
No strength of heart or muscle stout.
No courage for the hour of test;
Its fruit is tasteless at the best.
Its record is unfinished deeds
And vanished hopes and broken creeds.
And failures, sad, and goals un-gained,
And splendid victories unattained.
It has no future life of bliss,
And steals away the joy of this.

Believe in God, believe in man!
Put faith in everything you plan.
Believe you have the power to do
What tasks the day shall bring to you.
And be so strong in faith that when
You meet the common griefs of men,
You still can bear with sorrow's pain.
Knowing that joy shall come again.
Live out your life with courage stout.
There is no manliness in doubt.

BEFORE the first shy flower struggles up from the melting snow in the northland or a primary hint quivers in the air of balmy climes, THEY preface spring's approach. ## GIRL'S BEDTIME STORY

(By Howard R. Gailis)

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly! Uncle Wiggly!" called Mrs. Kat, the mother of Joe, Tommie and Kittle Kat, as she came to the door of her little house in the woods one day, just as the bunny rabbit gentleman was hopping past. "Oh, Uncle Wiggly, have you a moment to spare to speak to me?"

"Of course, my dear Mrs. Kat! A dozen moments if you like," spoke Mr. Longears, with a low and polite bow of his tall silk hat, at the same time twirling his pink nose friendly like. "May I have the pleasure of doing you a favor?"

"I don't much," said Mrs. Kat, "but if you are walking past the home of Mrs. Tabby Kat—she's Joe's grandmother, you know—I wish you'd just step in and tell Joe to come home. He's been over there all the afternoon and I want him to go to the store in ten minutes for supper. Tommie and Kittle are over playing with Susie Little's rabbit now, and it's Joe's turn to go to the store."

"I'll stop at Mrs. Tabby Kat's house and tell him," promised Uncle Wiggly. "That is very little to do for you, since you have always been so kind to me. I'll send Joe home as fast as I can."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Kat, and then Uncle Wiggly hopped on and on, over the fields and through the woods, to where Mrs. Tabby Kat, the grandmother of Tommie, Joe and Kittle lived. Mrs. Tabby Kat was a dear little old maid, always knitting socks or mittens for the soldiers and other sets.

"Why, Uncle Wiggly, I am so glad to see you!" she said, as the bunny knocked on her door. "Won't you come in?"

"No, thank you. I only stopped to leave you a message," spoke the bunny. "His mother wants him to go to the store to get something for supper, and—"

"Why, Joe isn't here!" said Mrs. Tabby Kat.

"He isn't," cried Uncle Wiggly. "Why his mother said he was."

"Oh, he was," went on the grandmother cat. "But he must have gone out and gone home some time ago. Haven't seen him for over an hour. He came in, ate a sugar cookie, helped me with winding my yarn into a ball, and then he must have gone out, for he isn't here."

"That is very strange," said Uncle Wiggly. "If he had gone home I would have met him in the woods, as there is only one path from your house to Mrs. Kat's. But I didn't meet Joe."

"Oh, I wonder if anything has happened to him?" cried Mrs. Tabby Kat.

"Uncle Wiggly didn't say anything for a minute, but he thought of the Pin-tun and the Skoedicks and the Studdensroom, and all had antlers like that, and he felt very much afraid for Joe Kat."

Uncle Wiggly.

"Oh, I wound myself all up in the last of yarn playing with it, and then I went to sleep and didn't wake up until just now when I heard you calling me," said Joe as he untangled his paws from the loose strands.

"Well, it's a good thing we found you," said his grandmother. Then she gave him another sugar cookie and Uncle Wiggly took Joe home. And, if the said fish doesn't get caught in the no-man's-land when it's trying to jump over the pull parent's care, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Tommie Kat.

Winifred Black FOLKS AND THINGS

Writes about

There she is gone to her room in her ball dress and opera cloak—not a thing to be seen. It is 1 o'clock in the morning, and she is in love with him, and he is too stupid to tell her about it, and so of course she is going to marry the other man that she simply cannot bear, and it is all very tragic and terrible.

Will the time, the place and the hour bring him to his senses or will some busybody appear on the scene just in time to meet the "Lovely Lady" in the closet and ruin her reputation for life? That depends upon the novelist.

NOT IN REAL LIFE.

I wonder if such things do really happen in real life? They are always happening in English novels and French novels, and French plays and English plays, and now the American writers are beginning to follow suit.

How ridiculous it all is, how absolutely silly and absurd!

Imagine an average decent young man and his feelings, if the girl in love with him should suddenly appear at such an hour in the morning, and say to him in a telegram, saying, his mother was dead or a fire alarm or something, and he would act accordingly.

And her in, save her a seat by the fire, help her to throw off her opera cloak, and begin to discuss love and marriage with her? Why, he would think she was having a fit or she ever dared to dream of such a thing!

Mary Smith, don't you take a leaf out of any of the new stories and go to see John Brown in his rooms just because you think it would be romantic and interesting? It would be!

In the first place you couldn't get into the house without a latch-key, and in the second place, if you did, how would you know where his rooms were and what would keep you from bursting in on a respectable gentleman who would be amazed at your appearance, but not so much amazed as John?

If you want John to hunt up your family tree and see how many feeble, puny, and feeble ancestors you have, now go and visit him in his room sometime.

THOMAS! I am afraid you would have a hard time finding the average American "romance"—nothing but a plain single room, anyhow—and of course that does make a lot of difference, doesn't it?

Where on earth do those persons who write these stories live? What kind of lives do they lead? They know they have made up a kind of world of their own, like the little villages we used to make for the children out of pasteboard, and have not queer pasteboard people in these villages, and then they write stories about them in try to make us believe they're real.

HERE'S TO "PLAIN PEOPLE."

Thank goodness, the average girl has better sense than to pay the least attention to anything she sees in a love story, and the average man never bothers even to begin to read one, so I suppose we're safe.

I'm glad I read in bed last night all about the "Beautiful Creature" who was dying for the love of the "Stupid Thing," and couldn't get anything straight till she went to his "rooms" in her ball dress and opera cloak at 1 o'clock in the morning and gave him a chance to realize just what a really clever, sensible, discreet, modest young person she really was. It makes me glad to get back to real life again and look at the real girls and see what they are, for the most part, after all.

Here's to Mary and John, a plain, everyday man and woman, with their plain, everyday decent common sense! Who would the world be without them?

OAKLAND MAN
MAY IDENTIFY SLAIN WOMAN

Identity of the woman found dead in a gulch on the Crystal Springs road in San Mateo county may be established by Joseph Silva, an Oakland man living at 1724 Seventy-third avenue. Silva went to San Francisco today and probably will be taken to San Mateo to see if the body is that of a woman he saw recently in Modesto.

Silva and his wife were in Modesto three weeks ago and were attracted by a woman who answered perfectly, according to Silva, the description of the woman whose identity is such a mystery. The Silvases were attracted because the woman resembled already a friend of theirs in Oakland and they believed for a moment that this friend was in Modesto.

Silva told Chief of Police Nedderer of his belief and the chief arranged for Silva to cross the bay. It is probable that the body will be brought to San Francisco tomorrow, and Silva's identification may not be made until then.

Other possible identifications of the slain girl have so far come to light. One is that she may have been a Mrs. Mildred Bergerson of Superior, Wis., recently reported missing by the Portland police. The initials "M. B." appeared in the shoes of the dead woman, written on the lining in several places in red and green, and were the only mark of identification that had not been removed from her clothing.

ANOTHER CLUE.

The other is that she may have been Miss V. (Violet) of Westport, Mendocino county. Miss Cromwell, a 16-year-old girl, preferred charges against a man who brought her to this city, and he was arrested. She afterwards disappeared. The police are inclined to place more faith in the former than the latter possible identification.

Two other clues are being investigated, including the Hotel Mateo lodgings of a couple on the night when the woman's body was believed to have been thrown into the gulch. This couple, giving the name of Rose, registered at the hotel some time after midnight and left before dawn. An attaché of the hotel declares she heard a woman crying in the room toward morning.

PHONE CLUE CONSIDERED.

Then, too, the police are seeking to discover the mysterious parties in a telephone conversation which a San Francisco woman overheard as she was calling her husband on long distance. She refused to give her name to the detectives. She

Letters Tell of "War Fund" Collection
Mrs. Rogers' Defense Soon to Open
Oakland Base Hospital Fiasco Aired

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—That Mrs. Alice S. Rogers, Los Angeles field secretary of the National Defense League of California, did not confine her letter writing propensities to John H. Suits, co-defendant in the trial of Mrs. Rogers, Mason I. Williams and Major John B. Jeffery was indicated in the ninth day of the trial here when United States Attorney Annette A. Adams started the defense by producing and reading to the jury a series of letters written to Williams from Los Angeles.

Excerpts of the letters of Mrs. Rogers, better known to Oaklanders as Mrs. Polie or "Mary Ann Matheson," secretary of the Base Hospital Benefit, follow:

"PLAN FOR REAL MONEY."
Referring to Major Jeffery, need Major Jeffery very much for the league and some big culls here. I want him to see the big men and am saving them for him."
"I finance everyone, pay all bills in advance and will not reimburse until you send me the first check for $210.66. However, I think that when I see you I can submit a plan for real money."

In another referring to President Drake of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Company, who was chairman with other prominent Los Angeles business and financial men of Mrs. Rogers' campaign committee for the league and referring to the checks contributed to the League's war activities, she writes: "I will not use the Los Angeles Trust as Mr. Drake signs every check and I do not wish him to know that any commission is paid. There are about twenty-five rich ones that I wish the Major could see in Pasadena. I am enclosing a check from M. H. Ilettman. Please hold my share until I see you on Monday."

TELLS OF DIFFICULTIES.

"These girls (referring to women solicitors employed) are not strong enough talkers to overcome the many difficulties which are arising here now such as articles in newspapers regarding paid managers' commissions and duplicity work. The general opinion of the State Council of Defense seems to be that no more funds shall be collected. Unless I can find some way around this or change their minds the financial end of the league will die a natural death."

A paragraph which is said to refer to John Suits of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, whose name she remembered the details of the overheard conversation and was struck by the coarse voices of the speakers.

"You had better get this woman out of the city to some 'hoos' town," she quoted as the woman's voice on the phone. "If Matheson or O'Connor get on to what's doing they'll have us both in jail."

Matheson Matheson is captain of detectives and Mrs. Catherine O'Connor a policewoman in this city.

charities endorsements' bureau secretary, E. C. McGinnity, who was suspicious of Suits and Mrs. Rogers, follows:

"POLITICAL ORGANIZATION."
"Just a word to the wise. The Suits connection is hurting your organization throughout the state. They all write to the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and they are knockers and not boosters. General Woodruff (president of the League) or Colonel Alder (secretary) should get that Koster by the neck and tie him what he is trying to do. The National Defense League can be the most powerful political organization in the state. There is no reason why Koster or anyone else should do anything but boost the work."

Attorney Clinton P. Dodge, of Oakland, testified concerning the "base hospital" fiasco at the Hotel Oakland in 1917 which Mrs. Rogers or Koide, promoted. He said she had solicited him for a contribution to the league and had read an expose in the TRIBUNE. The expose appeared the second time, having read the expose, he refused to pay her any further sum.

TWO BANK ACCOUNTS.

Lieutenant J. E. Kerrigan, of the Army Intelligence Bureau, who conducted the entire investigation of the activities of these defendants in this case, testified that Major Jeffery had made representations he was working for the League without salary and that Williams had stated positively there was only one bank account for the League's funds where there were in reality two and a third personal account which the government had designated as the "secret fund."

Mrs. Adams indicated that the government will probably close its case today, the defense to open late this afternoon or tomorrow morning. They expect to require at least four days in the presentation of their case. The government charged that the defendants diverted to their own use upwards of $20,000 contributions to the war activities of the National Defense League of California.

What is expected to be the first local unit of an international organization of all the soldiers, sailors and marines of the United States and Allies in the present war will be formed in Oakland within the next few days.

At a meeting of a committee recently discharged men at the office of Attorney Walter F. Dunn last evening, it was decided to form a general meeting of all discharged men to be held as soon as arrangements could be made to obtain a hall for the purpose of organization.

Among those at the meeting were E. Baldwin, Peter Stankovich, Charles W. Haggerty, Lloyd Hill, Angus Vogt, R. E. Klose, Cecil E. Smith, Stanley C. Carlson, W. T. Shelton, C. D. Oliver and Walter F. Dunn. Account was taken by these present of the fact that another organization of the veterans of the present war was in the process of formation, but it was understood that such organization contemplated taking into its membership the veterans of all other wars of the United States, the opinion was expressed that the veterans of this war ought to have an organization of their own.

Among the purposes of the organization will be to preserve fraternal relations with the soldiers, sailors and marines who united to fight against the aggression of Germany and to perpetuate the memory and honor of those dead and to assist the comrades in arms and extend aid to the widows and orphans of those who have fallen.

During the week of March 24 to 31, inclusive, the Salvation Army will make a house-to-house canvass in order to maintain and extend the home service work, to help the needy, to erect buildings equipped for relief and welfare activities, to improve the lot of the poor, to give the needy a hand raised to become worthy citizens, to maintain and extend the rescue work of the maternity homes where young mothers are cared for, and to maintain other Salvation Army activities. Oakland's quota is $20,000.

Here in Oakland the Oakland lodge of Elks have stepped into the breach and said to the men and women of the Salvation Army: "We will put the drive over for you. We haven't forgot what you did for the boys in the trenches, and the people of Oakland haven't forgotten. We're with you."

And so the Elks are whipping an organization into shape to make the appeal. The drive for the worthy work of the Elks is being carried on by the lodge, headed by the committee comprising John D. Holmes, Ernest E. Peter, George E. Sheldon and Kenneth Wilks. Dr. Charles T. Wheeler of the Salvation Army, who spent many years with the fighting forces of the allies in France, presented vividly the work of the Salvation Army in France and Flanders to the Elks the other night. His introduction was by Harry M. Richards, president of the State Association of Elks.

QUICK BALLOT
COUNT MAY BE GIVEN TRIAL

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—The Senate elections committee took under advisement today a bill by Senator F. M. Carr intended to speed the count of ballots at election of German merchant ships and the revivification of Germany probably will be held at Brussels on Thursday.

The chief difficulties so far encountered in consideration of this question at Paris arose over the methods of payment.

New proposals are expected to be made, however, to meet this problem. It is understood that payments will come from three sources:

1. Products like coal and potash.
2. From credits which Germany has in neutral countries, but which have thus far been unavailable owing to the blockade.
3. From foreign securities held in Germany.

WILL PAY FOR FOOD.

These three sources will yield about $300,000,000 ($300,000,000) it is estimated. This sum is required to pay for the food that will be needed to tide Germany over until the next harvest.

As a result of the exchange of views, during the course of the former negotiations at Spa, the allied peace delegates have reason to believe that the new proposals will be acceptable and that German ships will be available for the transportation of American soldiers back home.

Marshal Foch may not attend the next meeting of the parliament, but all of the other allied delegates will be present.

"The turning point of the peace conference has been reached," says the Paris correspondent of the Evening News. "Not even when the Germans come will there be a week-end more important than the one just past. Preparatory work is now finished and the preliminary peace conference will be ready in a few days. Already the council of ten has entrusted to commissions their conclusions in the form of articles capable of insertion into the treaty and by the time President Wilson arrives in Paris the military and naval conditions will have been settled. It is an open secret that Premier Lloyd George considers disavowment of the touchstone of conference success and that his insistence toward Germany in this respect is merely the first step in a general policy of pacification, tending to lead to disarmament in all countries."

"Democrats will do well to close their ranks in support of the good things which the conference offers rather than waste effort on barren criticism of faults. There are substantial reasons for believing that the Paris conference will furnish the foundations of a better Europe."

"Big Business" Charge

Made in Committee

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—A heated debate in which accusations of big business manipulations were hurled, ended the hearing by the joint irrigation committees of the legislature in the merged irrigation district fight. No action was taken by the committee on the bill, which proposes making it easier to form irrigation districts.

From here the committee will visit various seaport cities in Oregon and Washington. In the party are: Lemuel P. Padgett, Tennessee, retiring chairman; Daniel J. Rordan, New York, and Mrs. Rordan; William B. Oliver, Alabama, and his niece, Mrs. M. H. Brown and Miss Jeanette Duncan; Carl Vinson, Georgia; William J. Browning, New Jersey, and Mrs. Browning; Fred A. Britten, Illinois, and his mother, Mrs. Peach, and his sister, Miss Britten; Frederick C. Liles, New York, and sister, Mrs. George A. Thayer; William Kettner, California; J. A. Elston, California.

There is one thing vital to our health—pure food. That means National Ice Cream, made under most sanitary conditions. You are invited to inspect its factory.
